A look inside the Brimberry Mansion

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The mansion that Thomas Brimberry built is the stuff of which dreams are made.

As Georgia Engelke introduced a slide presentation of the mansion to the Old Six Mile Historical Society Monday, she referred to the "American dream."

Borrowing from a recent TV show about the William Randolph Hearst castle — San Simeon, near San Luis Obispo, Calif. — she spoke of "visions of a glorious future" and success stories.

"When we heard there was going to be a great mansion in Granite City, we got all excited thinking, 'Here's a boy, who made good,'" Mrs. Engelke said.

Society members and the curious who had come to see the slides snickered.

Thomas Brimberry's short-lived success was allegedly due to a swindle; a con game. Accused of masterminding the disappearance of at least $16 million from the Stix & Co. stock brokerage firm, Brimberry is in jail awaiting trial in St. Louis on federal charges.

While his future is not certain, the mansion on Parkway Drive is a reminder to Granite City of the ostentatious life he and his family led.

The mansion was recently purchased by the Bank of Edwardsville at a public auction for $400,000. Slides of the house indicate a lifestyle of leisure.

The Tudor-style house, which is estimated to have cost about $1 million to build (an exact figure is not being provided) as the Internal Revenue Service is still attempting to determine how much Stix money was used to build it) sits amid seven lots.

Nearly 100 trees and intricate landscaping surround the grounds. Three palm trees near the swimming pool have been cut almost to the ground.

There are not these pools at the mansion, as is commonly reported. There is one swimming pool, a wading pool and hot tub outside, but not three swimming pools, those present were told.

Special insulated concrete surrounds the pool area. The kind of concrete that won't burn the bottoms of feet.

The mansion rivals many of the homes located in the suburbs north of Chicago on Sheridan Road, with the back yards looking across Lake Michigan.

While the view from the Brimberry yard is not so spectacular, the scenery inside is breathtaking. Even without furniture, those viewing the slides indicated.

From the sprinkler system on the lawn to the three-car heated garage to the jacuzzis and hot tub, it is a spectacle, viewers said.

Five ceiling fans line the overhang of the patio area in the back yard, just in case there is not enough wind.

A recent slide shows flowers blooming along the walk near the front door. On the door is a sign that says, "No trespassing."

Just inside the back door is a bathroom, presumably for those who said the woman who gave the tour via slides.

Tiles match the wallpaper design in all five full baths and both half baths.

Bids are sought for linking storm ponds

Granite City Fourth Ward Alderman Sharon Perjak called the new $100,000 Briarcliff drainage pond "of absolutely no use" during last week's rainstorm that flooded much of her ward.

As a result, aldermen will seek bids to determine the cost of linking the pond with the larger-capacity North Granite retention pond.

Their decision came after Mrs. Perjak called a special street and alley committee session Tuesday to discuss the "serious water problem" that she says continues to periodically affect various sections of the city and has plagued her ward for years.

Residents are worried the new Briarcliff retention pond will have little effect on the flooding situation. "Their concern is they have as much water out there (following the storm)...as they did before," Perjak told aldermen.

After a rainstorm dumped from about two and a half to three or more inches of rain on the area late Thursday and early Friday morning, streets in the Briarcliff housing section were swamped. The city was again forced to close a portion of Pontoon Road due to the standing water.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer

disagreed with Mrs. Perjak and Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Bowler. Bowler contended flooding is not rare since the pond was completed. "We're talking about a constant problem in... (that) area," he said.

Brewer said the holding pond was constructed on the largest piece of property that the city could find in that area and was never expected to hold more than a two-inch rainfall. There is only one city sewer storm line available to release water collected in the retention pond, and once the pond reaches its capacity, water cannot be pumped out until the main sewer line is empty — an unlikely event during or directly after a heavy rainstorm.

Brewer said he proposed in 1973 a $500,000 project that would have included a larger main sewer line, but noted the city eventually settled for the less expensive retention pond. "I'm solving a $500,000 problem with $100,000," the engineer said.

Initially, the city had hoped to put the holding pond in the "hobo jungle" portion of Luaders Estates, but residents objected. A plan to run a ditch behind the homes abutting the railroad tracks

Circus and parade attract thousands

The annual Shrine Circus, one of the highlights of the year in the Quad-City area, attracted nearly 8,000 people Tuesday and Wednesday nights and is expected to attract several thousand more for the final performance at 7:30 tonight.

The week of Shrine activity in Granite City started Monday night with the annual Shrine Circus Parade, which drew many thousands along the parade route, on both sides of Madison Avenue from Niedringhaus Avenue and 30th Street.

Clowns, floats, bands, marchers and the many Shrine units comprises the 83-unit parade, traditionally the largest parade of the year in the Quad-City area.

Then the circus opened Tuesday evening at Tri-City Speedway on Route

203 (Nameoki Road) north of Granite City and south of Interstate 270. The circus continues tonight, featuring numerous acts, including lion tamer Ada Smiley; the Winn Troupe in the included high wire; the James Zappe group of Roinback Riders and their medieval joust with swords and armor; the Kinsley Duo, an aerial acrobatic act with a helicopter spin and neck hang; lots of animals, including the traditional elephants; acrobatics on a motorcycle high in the sky with the Astros; the Dolly sisters in the triple cradle, plenty of clowns and much more.

Tickets for tonight's closing performance of the circus are $3 each, which admit one adult or two children up to the age of 12. Children ages 2 and younger are admitted free.

City receives sewer repair grants

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

After months of appeals and applications, Granite City officials learned this week that the city will receive federal funding to repair sewer breaks.

President Reagan Monday declared Granite City a disaster area due to the flooding this spring, making the city eligible for federally-financed reimbursement for repair or replacement of public property.

Also on Monday, a 17-member county committee recommended the appropriation of $300,000 of Community Development funds to the city for repairing sewer breaks. The money was made available through the jobs bill. The county board is expected to approve the recommendations of the committee at its June 15 meeting.

Funds guaranteed from the president's decision have not been specified and federal officials are to brief the city council on eligibility requirements, possibly as early as next week.

Officials from the Illinois Emergency Services Disaster Agency and the Federal Emergency Management Agency had a press conference Wednesday at the Fehling Road sewer break to discuss the impact of Reagan's decision. The Fehling Road break is one of the three largest breaks in the city.

Reagan designated 11 Illinois counties and two cities — Granite City and Cahokia — as disaster areas. Madison County was not one of the counties designated as a disaster area and state officials might appeal the exclusion of the county from the list.

Gov. James Thompson had requested that 17 counties be declared disaster areas by the president.

Since February, ESDA officials have appealed through Thompson to Reagan to receive federal funding to assist the city in repairing the breaks. Thompson requested federal disaster relief for the 17 counties May 16.

Rehire 58 of 192 dismissed teachers

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

The Granite City School Board this week increased its rehiring of 58, named additional department heads and decided to continue the tradition of red and black colors for Warrior teams at the combined high school.

Recalled for the 1983-84 year were: David A. McClain, high school science; Judith Roehen, high school multiple handicaps; Dan Rahn, speech therapist; and Laura A. Froemling, teacher of hearing-impaired.

Earlier in the meeting, a parent asked the board whether a local class will be taught by a teacher of hearing-impaired. The later action answered the query affirmatively.

Of 192 teachers honorably dismissed March 27 for '83-84, 27 were recalled May 3 and another 27 on May 17.

The district on May 3 honorably dismissed 21 custodians, 17 secretaries and nine cooks. There has been extensive shifting of remaining secretaries and teachers, based on seniority, teaching specialties and job openings.

Supt. B. J. Davis estimated after Tuesday's 3½-hour session that 90 percent of faculty members will be assigned to their first or second subject choices, with 10 percent given assignments for which they are qualified but not necessarily accustomed to or pleased with.

He said it has been impossible to give everyone his or her preference while reducing the staff so sharply and shrinking the number of schools in use from 18 to 12. The cutbacks are based on revenue, cost and enrollment patterns.

Carla D. Ziff, who was scheduled to teach visually-impaired children on a half-day basis, was designated this week for full-day duties in her field.

Some who have handled administrative or semi-administrative duties will be reassigned to teaching, with their supervisory and planning tasks delegated to others or assigned to the same person on a "department head" basis, the superintendent reported.

Extraordinary positions not being filled for 1983-84 will be voted on and announced June 28. The only July meeting will be July 12.

Eight high school department heads were approved last month, and the nine chosen Tuesday night were: Cynthia Hornell, English, David King vocational-industrial arts, Mildred Collins home economics, Philip Shatto social studies, Mary Johnson journalism, Steve Hamilton student council, Robert Johnson yearbook, Joseph Hanson head ticket taker and Donald Shaffner, cooperative work training coordinator.

Department heads appointed earlier were: Hanson, business education, Ronald Dillard driver education, John Sellmeyer foreign languages, Russell Chappell mathematics, Donald Derding physical education, Harold Gebhardt science, Ronald Pennell speech and Ann Rich, art.

High school counselors will be Sonja Adkerson, coordinator, and John Haug, Sondra Kopsky, Roy McConkey and Al Rowden.

Pennell will handle the homecoming play, the speech-theater club and individual speech events. Dr. Goni Michaeloff will direct the winter play and Beverly Scroggins will serve as technical director and lead the spring play.

High school and junior high coaching assignments are listed in an appendix section. Additional coaching, department head and extracurricular selections are expected June 28.

Some additional teacher callbacks are possible this summer, but several potential rehiring decisions depend on student turnout during the first or second week of the fall semester, Supt. Davis said.

Not yet designated are 19 school vocal music director, counselors and the school system's culture analyst.

Elementary school safety patrols will be Phyllis Susan Smith at Frohardt, Norman Grote at Marshall, Virgil Kirksey at Maryville, JoAnn Peleate at Mitchell, George Amisich at Niedringhaus, Paul Kindle at Parkview, Casimir Krakowicki at Webster and Diane Morthland at Wilson. The eighth safety patrol is yet to be named.

Alcoholism series begins at SEMC

Every family experiences some form of tension. But the influence of alcohol on a family increases those tensions, often to the point of causing the family structure to disintegrate. Talbot Hall, an alcohol and drug abuse treatment center located at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, offers a family education series to help families deal with the effect alcoholism has on their lives. The series will meet on Tuesday evenings, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., for four consecutive weeks and will be continuous. The program, which is directed at the entire family unit, will cover such topics as alcoholism recovery programs, relapse and the roles of the family members and enabling behaviors. "This program will also help prepare those people planning to enter the Family Care Program, which is a five-day out-patient program based on the treatment philosophy that alcoholism and chemical dependency are family illnesses," said Ginny Dellamano, program coordinator.

The cost is $4 per person, per session. Each session will be in the Talbot Hall lecture hall. Interested persons may contact Nancy Adams at 798-3069 to make reservations.

'Cycle chase ends in accident, arrest

A motorcyclist heading north on Madison Avenue, allegedly reached speeds of up to 90 mph in a chase which ended with the motorcycle operator and a passenger being thrown from the machine and sustaining injuries during the weekend.

Charged with attempting to elude police was James D. Bradley, 20, of 3218 Wilshire Ave., who was operating the cycle. He also was booked on charges of speeding (90 mph in a 35 mph zone), reckless driving and a stoplight violation.

Bradley and his passenger, Anthony E. Hackney, 21, of Rural Route Two, Box 940, both suffered injuries. Neither man wanted to remain at the scene until an ambulance was summoned and, at first, both were reluctant to receive medical treatment, police reports said.

After being taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Bradley checked out of the emergency room against medical advice, reports stated. The incident began when an officer alleged seeing a motorcycle, occupied by two persons, traveling north in the 2200 block of Madison Avenue at high speed and gave chase.

Despite driving the squad car at speeds up to 90 mph, the pursuing officer alleged the motorcycle continued to pull away from the police vehicle, whose red lights and siren were activated, and the cyclist was weaving in and out of traffic.

Another officer headed south in the 2800 block of Madison Avenue was alerted to the pursuit and positioned his squad car in the oncoming traffic lanes, but was forced to reverse the vehicle to avoid being struck by the cycle, according to official reports.

A short distance further north, a third officer attempted the same roadblock technique, but also had to move his squad car when it was struck by the motorcycle, which was disregarding the roadblock and a collision would have occurred.

All three police vehicles followed the cycle to Madison Avenue and Namek Road, where Bradley allegedly violated a red light, tried to make a left turn and lost control of the machine. The motorcycle was towed from the scene.

House passes proposals on hazardous wastes

The Illinois House recently passed a set of proposals strengthening environmental protection against hazardous waste disposal and imposing stricter penalties on violators, according to State Representatives Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) and Eugene Doyle (D-Northlake).

House Bill 2171 increases the waste disposal fee to five times the current amount and provides that 87 percent of revenue raised from fees be used to clean up hazardous waste spills. The bill also authorizes the Environmental Protection Agency to use Hazardous Waste Funds to satisfy any federal requirement Illinois must meet before it can receive Superfund clean-up grants.

"The money raised by this bill will be used to clean up 27 priority sites identified by the EPA as posing an immediate or long-term danger to the environment or to public health," Wolf said. "If the state can fund the first 10 percent of the cost of cleaning up the 11 worst sites, the package also prohibits locating new landfills within a 10-mile radius of existing ones. The probable effect of this restriction will be to force waste disposal firms to locate additional landfills away from urban and residential areas, where most of the current landfills are concentrated."

"A concentration of waste disposal sites poses a significant danger to the population in the area," Wolf said. "Studies have shown such residents often suffer from severe health problems as a result of contamination of the local water supply."

The package now goes to the Senate for consideration. federal EPA will pick up the tab for the rest of it."

Another major provision beefs up criminal sanctions against people who dispose of hazardous waste illegally by creating eight new classes of hazardous waste felonies with maximum fines of up to a half million dollars.

Gov. James Thompson will be the guest of a call-in program to be broadcast on WSIE-FM (88.7) on Saturday, June 11, from 10:11:30 a.m.

WSIE-FM is the public service radio station at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Keith Bradley, news director of WSSR in Chicago, will moderate a panel of public radio reporters including Carolyn Risiko, news director of WBEZ, Chicago; Marc Magliari of WNIU, DeKalb; and Mary Frances Fagan, statehouse bureau chief for WSSR. Miss Fagan will quiz the governor for 30 minutes, followed by one hour of statewide telephone calls from listeners.

According to Bradley, "This live broadcast with the governor will come at a key time in the negotiations between the executive and legislative branches of state government as they attempt to come to grips with the revenue problem." The program will be broadcast live by satellite from Springfield.

House passes bills easing elderly's budget balancing

By SAM W. WOLF
State Representative

Late May brought a productive week in the House of Representatives at Springfield. All House bills had to be passed out of the House and sent to the Senate for consideration by the end of the day May 27.

A four-bill set of interest to the state's senior citizens was overwhelmingly approved and sent to the Senate for action by that body.

These bills were developed as a result of hearings held by the House Select Committee on Aging. They address a number of major problems with which senior citizens have been struggling for too long.

The package includes: HB 24, raising the homestead exemption for persons 65 and over to $2,000, effective Jan. 1, 1985; HB 2023, creating the Illinois Living Will Act, providing a means for the terminally ill to authorize a physician to halt medical treatment; and HB 1490, providing that the Departments of Aging, Rehabilitation Services and Public Aid must develop cooperative procedures for determining whether a person applying for nursing home care may be eligible to participate in an alternative, non-institutional care program.

I believe HB 426 is the cornerstone of the legislative program for senior citizens. It would establish a system of pharmaceutical cost relief for those who qualify, and require that senior citizens who participate make a minimal co-payment of $2 on the cost of their prescriptions.

Given the extraordinarily high cost of medicine, I believe senior citizens would find this bill could save them a considerable amount of money. As soon as the bill passes the Senate, I will encourage the governor to sign it as soon as possible.

Another measure to aid senior citizens and their families would allow employed homeowners with incomes of $20,000 or less, who provide room and board for relatives 60 years of age or older, to claim a $1,000 exemption on the state income tax.

HB 391 is particularly timely, considering that the economy has presented those on fixed incomes with seemingly insurmountable financial problems.

One way to alleviate the problem is to share food and housing. This is an old idea, but one that has taken on new meaning in light of today's recession.

Each homeowner with an elderly parent, grandparent or other relative living with him or her could claim and receive up to three exemptions, as long as the elderly relative earns less than $7,500 per year and is living with the homeowner at least nine months of the year.

There is more good news.

LOCAL STORE TO CLOSE THIS WEEKEND

Mel Brodsky of St. Louis County, formerly of Granite City, will close the Factory Outlet Shoe Store, 1304 Nineteenth St., this Friday and Saturday only.

Mr. Brodsky and his wife, Ann, plan to attend his 1983 graduating class reunion in Quincy, Ill., during the weekend. He will re-open the store for business at the regular hours on Monday.

A package of utility reform bills, aimed at giving Illinois consumers a stronger voice in the rate-making process, also passed the House last week.

The package, backed by House Speaker Michael J. Madigan, includes a bill creating a Citizens Utility Board to represent consumers more directly in rate hike hearings.

The bill also would prohibit winter shut-offs. In a climate like ours, shutting off such as essential service is inhuman and must be prohibited.

Other important items include strict prohibition against including construction costs when formulating rate bases. Eliminating these pass-throughs would force utilities to be more responsible and efficient.

The package included legislation important to our area, in particular:

HB 99 prohibits utility companies from automatically passing on to consumers the cost of transporting out-of-state coal into Illinois. This practice not only raises rates, but also denies our coal industry an "in state" market.

The bill provides protection for tenants if the landlord doesn't pay the utility bills. In addition, it requires that all Illinois Commerce Commission hearings be open to the public.

I believe we are on the road to utility relief in Illinois, as this is the most comprehensive utility reform package proposed in this session.

MADISON POLICE FIND HOME IS RANSACKED

While on routine patrol last week, Madison police heard an audible burglar alarm at 808 Webster St., the home of Wardell Young.

Police found the front door open and noted that someone entered the home through a kitchen window.

A china cabinet door in the dining room was standing open and the lower portion of the cabinet also was entered. A dresser and a chest of drawers were entered in a bedroom that was ransacked.

Police also noted that an attempt was made to force the locks on the front door, apparently to escape. The area around the lock was chipped away and a hammer and two screwdrivers were found on the sofa.

Substantial damage was done to the lock, police said.

GC students graduate from SIUC

What is believed to have been the largest graduating class in Southern Illinois University-Carbondale history received degrees at SIUC's spring commencement exercises.

Applicants for degrees numbered nearly 5,500 — some 500 more than the year before. The figure is not a final one, however. Conclusive tallies usually aren't complete until five or six weeks following commencement. The largest graduating class at SIUC was that of May, 1980, which numbered 4,340.

Ceremonies were conducted in three separate sessions at the SIUC Arena. U.S. Rep. Paul Simon (D-Makanda) was awarded the honorary doctor of laws degree at one of them.

Degrees were conferred by SIUC President Albert Somit.

Most of us German or English

"The Lord must have loved the (insert your favorite nationality) because he made so many of them." That old saying came to mind when word was received last week that 3,103,351 Illinoisians have German ancestry, more than any other group.

Of the 9,828,944 residents of this state who pinpointed their nationality in the 1980 census, another 2,027,692 were of Irish descent; 1,908,333 were English and 1,398,294 were American. Nationally, English-Americans led, with German-Americans second. Other major Illinois groups were: Polish 892,009, Italian 640,304, French 485,902, Swedish and Scottish almost tied with 379,993 and 379,843, respectively, Mexican 360,728, Dutch 293,056, American Indian 224,134, Czech 208,421, Norwegian 167,995, Russian 143,921 and Lithuanian, 112,410.

Asian nationalities remained small in comparison to the other groups. A total of 43,351 Illinoisians claimed Filipino ancestry, 30,701 named Indian, 29,854 said they are Chinese, 24,028 Korean, 20,808 Japanese and 24,950 other Asian lands, including 5,890 Vietnamese.

All told, the population of this state in 1980 was 11,227,000, including 1,675,000 persons or 14.6 percent who were black. The above tally of Illinois nationalities does not include anybody who said he was an American, period, or who listed his or her religion. Among the non- or partly-hyphenated Americans are Eskimos, Aleuts, Canadians, French Canadians and Mexicans.

How diverse is the populace of the 21st state to join the Union? Counting small as well as large groups, there are 134 distinct segments among those who regard Illinois as their home. Those smallest in number are the 196 Maltese, 94 French Basques, 48 Spanish Basques and 18 other Basques.

A key point is that, hyphenated or not, all the Illinoisians are Americans. And Americans make up the most fortunate of all nationalities because their land, whether native or adopted, remains in 1983 the chief beacon of liberty throughout the world.

Spectacular aerospace progress

The annual open house at Scott Air Force Base from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday will be of interest to many local residents.

Now that the Granite City Army Installation is no longer the scene of some bustling activity as in its heyday, the big base near Belleville is one of this area's chief Defense Department centers.

Among the highlights will be the space shuttle orbiter Enterprise, attached to its Boeing 747 ferry aircraft. Although the Enterprise has not flown in space, it was the first space shuttle to be released in mid-air from the 747 for flight tests.

The Air Force Thunderbirds, flying new F-16 Falcon aircraft, will perform their thrilling flight aerobatics during a 40-minute air show starting at 3:30 p.m.

The Army's fearless Golden Knights Parachutists will "hit the silk" twice on Saturday. And more than 25 military and civilian aircraft will be displayed, including the world's largest aircraft, the C-5 Galaxy.

Patriots and aerospace enthusiasts will find much to see and experience at the open house.

The only negative we can think of is that Saturday's ground transportation is unlikely to function as efficiently as the aerial demonstrations. A big crowd and a big traffic jam are expected.

Big Brother and big government

"Nineteen eighty-four" is on many people's minds because of a network television show on the George Orwell book "Nineteen eighty-four" because that year—described by the author 36 years in advance—now is only a few months away. The book foresaw almost total governmental control of citizens' thoughts and actions.

The subject is a worthy one but we think Missouri State Senator Harriet Woods got a bit carried away in her political comments during the weekend. What may have started her train of thought is the persuasive communication skills of the president, who happens to be a member of a different political party than hers.

Recalling the book's brainwashing slogans, War Is Peace, Freedom Is Slavery, and Ignorance Is Strength, the former U.S. senatorial nominee equated them with Pres. Reagan's call for "peace through strength."

It does not take much study to realize such a comparison is illogical. The first three statements are nonsense; the fourth is valid. Military strength in the hands of a peace-loving nation can foster peace—although arms, admittedly, not only have been stockpiled but also have been put into use in many past conflicts around the world.

In her address to the Americans for Democratic Action national meeting, Mrs. Woods was on target in stressing that "we are not, like Orwell's hero, trapped in some totalitarian society where we are helpless to act. We're free to speak out, to point out the facts."

Many Orwellian predictions are accurate in the Soviet Union, where liberty is suppressed, efforts are made to tightly control behavior, privacy rights are ignored, and massive propaganda efforts seek to alter both current facts and past events. Communism's "better Red than dead" slogan would fit well with the approach of the fictional Big Brother dictator.

It is precisely the kind of repression found behind the Iron Curtain that makes it so essential to have an adequate military defense to protect the free world.

Within the U.S., precautions may need to be expanded regarding: television security and surveillance systems, the assembling of already available computerized information about individuals, bureaucratic growth, the potential for subconscious advertising messages, and alteration of the language to distort reality (does enhancing revenue sound less painful than increasing taxes?).

And the next time you buy a TV set, make sure it can be turned off—and that it doesn't have a screen that looks back at you while you look at it.

Basic steel industry being ruined

Excerpts from comments by Lloyd McBride, United Steelworkers of America president—Seven years ago, there were 46 large, ore-based steel mills in the U.S., capable of producing 145 million tons of raw steel a year. In the Carter years, six were closed.

Under the current administration, nine have closed permanently and two others have been closed for 13 percent to 46 percent.

More mills may close soon, leaving our country dangerously dependent on foreign steel producers.

The president has the power and authority to protect the national interest in this crisis. We ask him to understand the urgency and to act in these areas:

1. Launch an investigation to determine if the U.S. Steel-British Steel proposal would violate our domestic trade laws or the European Economic Community arrangement.

2. Invoke procedures in the 1982 EEC arrangement and call for immediate consultation with the European coal and steel community on the extent and implications of dumping subsidized steel in the American market.

3. If consultations do not resolve the problem, use federal trade laws to prohibit imports of subsidized steel.

4. Carry out the promises made to steelworkers and the steel industry during the presidential campaign. Time is short. The time to act is now. American steelworkers and their industry cannot compete with foreign governments.

Since the U.S. Steel deal was announced, Brazil and other countries have rushed to make their own proposals for dumping subsidized steel on the American market. All of these schemes are in clear violation of domestic trade laws, but laws are meaningless without enforcement.

The Press-Record asked readers if they believe the state legislature should take action to stop other states from dumping hazardous wastes in Illinois. Their reactions follow:

Sharon Woodson, Granite City

"Can't they find an open field or abandoned area to dump such things? Areas that are away from the people?"

Ed Johnson, Granite City

"I think they should stop it (dumping). They should pass legislation against it or be shot at daybreak."

Betty Struckhoff, Granite City

"Yes, I think so. (Cities in other states should) keep it in their own town. (Illinois should) pass a law."

Bernadine Weidner, Madison

"We have such good scientists in the world. Why couldn't they find some way to get rid of this (waste)? They seem to manage everything else."

Committee says Barton should have been tried

To the Editor:

It is unfortunate that more people will not get to read Associate Judge Edward Ferguson's order dismissing charges against Madison County's Supervisor of Assessments James Barton.

As a result of Ferguson's specious logic, the citizens of this county will not now see a case of law determine if such charges are true or false. A black cloud will continue to hang over Barton's head as the public ponder the question: "Is he innocent, or do we have a crook for supervisor of assessments?"

"Who was on trial?" is the immediate question one might ask after reading the judge's ruling. Redefining the meaning of blind justice, Ferguson disregarded the deliberations of an independent group of citizens, the grand jury that indicted Barton. He instead declared the prosecution guilty of "misconduct" and threw out the grand jury's charges.

Despite the judge's contention that his job is "to be fair and impartial and a friend to neither side," it appears to us that he has bent over backwards to dismiss these charges, much less displayed impartiality.

The chief argument

throughout Ferguson's order centers around the question of pre-trial publicity and the defendant's inability to receive a fair trial in Madison County. Although a possibility, such a suggestion does not warrant dismissal of charges.

Time was that a judge waited until an impartial jury could not be assembled before such was declared the case.

In any event, are there not 101 other Illinois counties where the Barton case has not received so much attention?

There appears to be one set of rules for people with power, money or reputation and another set of rules for the rest of us. Ferguson said as much when he wrote: "Had the defendant been a real and substantial prejudice to the defendant) would not have been as great."

The dismissal of charges against Barton seems full of irony to those of us who have worked long and hard through legal channels to see our county board remove him from office.

This ruling is more than just a miscarriage of justice that, in Ferguson's own words, "denies everybody their day in court." The overriding issue is that of the lack of accountability inherent between appointed officials and the public they are supposed to serve.

Holding a non-elective office, Barton has been free in his assessment practices over the past 11 years to favor large corporate property owners over our county's small-business people, farmers and homeowners.

He has consistently favored interested interests at the general public's expense.

Given Barton's stated belief that money opens doors and greases the wheels of government, we were not surprised when he admitted passing along what he termed a "political contribution" to help influence a county zoning board vote.

Ferguson, appointed to the bench by a majority vote of a circuit court judges, has not only issued a ruling filled with the aforementioned double standards and twisted logic. He has also said that the public cannot rightfully talk with elected officials such as (State's Attorney Don) Weber about issues of direct concern to them.

Most disturbing of all was his declaration that his ruling to dismiss these charges should not be disputed in any public forum or news media.

His words and actions, with their unfortunate effect, are clearly those of a man who, like the supervisor, does not have to face a voting public to retain his powerful position.

This is not over. First and foremost to remember, Mr. Barton is neither vindicated nor exonerated by this ruling. The supervisor is just for the time being, the one that got away. Citizens of Madison County may yet find themselves a way to quality-control their public officials.

Research is now being done regarding an elected supervisor of assessments (as in Vermilion County) and associate judges could be subject to public retention votes, as are circuit court judges.

Besides these possibilities, our county board still has the power to terminate Mr. Barton's tenure of office, and many members who have thus far avoided such a vote in the public interest are up for re-election next year.

Milton grateful to have served as alderman

To the Editor:

It has been a privilege to have been a part of the leadership of the city government over the past 15 months.

The city's success story of the past 12 months in finance, since I became chairman of the finance committee, has been a simple one to grasp, with the best department heads a city could ever expect to have, the elected officials and the infusion of creative ideas.

My great memories will be of the wonderful people who make the city of Granite City work. The warm friendship and trust they have shared with me has made my time a tremendously fulfilling and rewarding experience. To each I extend my sincerest appreciation and thanks for the confidence in my leadership and especially the "friendship and trust" given me.

Our city's system is becoming healthy and it remains the best city in Madison County. But there are still some tasks ahead that can only be resolved if council members and our elected officials have the trust in one another and are guided by the principals of fairness and honesty.

Our city must go forward as a unified force, undivided in spirit to reach the balanced budget and make for the future healthy community for the citizens, industry and businesses I spoke of in my campaign.

File 6 warrants against GC man

Steven F. Kraus, 29, of 2921 Indiana Ave., pleaded innocent to charges contained in six warrants in an appearance Tuesday at 9:40 a.m. in the Granite City court. He was released from custody at 4 p.m. Tuesday upon posting a $706 cash bond and a $5,000 recognizance bond.

A series of alleged public nuisance incidents which started last year on property owned by Kraus led to the issuance of warrants against him after formal complaints were signed by Granite City Building Inspector Emerald Dawes, who cited Kraus on public nuisance charges, all involving lack of maintenance on the property, in violation of city codes.

Kraus was arrested when he reported to Granite City police headquarters at 10:20 p.m. Monday.

Dawes alleged Tuesday that proceedings against Kraus have been going on since last year when Kraus was warned about excessively high weeds and debris on the property.

The city inspector noted some grass has since been cut, but alleged Kraus failed to repair a broken sewer line with sewage waste being discharged directly onto the ground constituting a health hazard.

GC park employees granted raises

By PAT HAY LUTZ
for the Press-Record

A resolution passed by the Granite City Park Board on Wednesday evening granted hourly employees of the park district a five percent pay increase, retroactive to June 1.

The board unanimously passed the resolution, which also provides the board with the power to grant merit pay increases and allows recommendations from the maintenance foreman and the Director of Parks and Recreation.

The resolution ends the previous practice of "step increases" (automatic yearly pay increases) and allows the board to grant increases based upon the economic situation of the district.

The merit raises will be effective in December, 1983, and the amount of the increases will be fixed by the board when the awards are made.

The merit raises do not apply to part-time employees of the district, but the wage scale for part-time employees is the same as that of full-time employees.

Part-time employees are defined as those persons working less than an average of 40 hours per week and less than 52 weeks per year, but not less than 1,000 hours per year.

The meeting was held at the Granite City Park and Recreation David Nolan and two board members met with full-time district employees as volume in recent months.

Often, verbal reference is made during board meetings about "union" items, and the unannounced recommendations then are voted on and adopted. Details are released after adjournment.

Worthen said he was referring to Update Item 4 and later amended it to Item 5. Neither was on the meeting agenda.

The board member said he would prefer that such items contain information only. Those involving some type of tangible action could benefit from board discussions, since one member's comment might stimulate further thought by another member, he added.

Worthen said the update messages usually cannot include the full background on the subject of two regular board meeting segments, sandwiched around a long executive session.

When Worthen mentioned it, Treasurer Dewey Melton responded, saying he was concerned that the vacation plan might be unfair. It remained unclear to spectators what was being discussed, and Capt. Davis afterward described it as confidential in nature.

Board Member Thomas Mickley remarked that "if it's important enough to be on the agenda," it's important enough to be on the agenda.

problems because people are up for raises at different times," Nolan said. "Some people are receiving more than five percent because they were already due for an increase. In those cases, we added the five percent to the percentage they were going to receive already," he explained.

According to Nolan, timing always causes a problem when granting pay raises. "No matter when we would have instituted the new scale, there would have been problems because people are up for raises at different times," Nolan said. "Some people are receiving more than five percent because they were already due for an increase. In those cases, we added the five percent to the percentage they were going to receive already," he explained.

Board President George Sykes indicated that the raises are "fair" and stated, "Certainly no one was penalized." Speaking of the meeting between the employees and the board members, Sykes added, "We appreciate their concern."

Brimberry mansion

bathroom probably was designed for a maid. Nearby is the kitchen.

The three-inch-thick oak doors on the side-by-side refrigerator and freezer are carved and sport shining copper handles.

Between the kitchen and main foyer is a heavy oak door, not too wide, with a stained glass window and the same shining handles, which are used throughout the mansion.

In the family room is a huge wet bar under an archway of oak. The sink is copper. Scrolled wood graces the bar on both sides, with a refrigerator hidden underneath by an oak door. In the same room, is a gigantic pastry cupboard. The largest bakery in the world probably couldn't keep it stocked, one viewer remarked.

Five fireplaces are in the house, all lined with heavy bricks.

In the dining room, embroidered linen is used for a wall cover. Flowers and vines of green, blue and red run up and around the walls from about three feet off the floor.

In a powder room just inside the front door, a gold leaf design enhances the toilet and sink. A key has left the wallpaper sagging underneath the sink. Because of the expense of the paper, it merely needs to be rolled back on to the wall. It has not crimped or cracked. Its sole conclusion, that those viewing the slides were told.

The master bedroom is on the first floor. Actually, it is a master complex with a sitting room and bathroom.

The wallpaper is purplish-blue with a tight flower design. A spiral staircase leads from the master bedroom to the basement.

For the mansion, basement is too generic a term. It is the bottom floor — it is not by any stretch of the imagination a basement, one viewer commented upon seeing the slides.

The spiral staircase ends in the much publicized "spa" room. A control box in the wall can spout five different types of air into the "environmental room."

Tropical rain one day, jungle steam the next. In the winter, Baja sun brightens the room.

A jacuzzi — there are two in the house and one hot tub — sits in the middle of the room, surrounded by a brick column on either side. Surrounding the columns is sand, in which plants obviously are meant to grow.

On the second floor are the children's bedrooms. The two sons of Brimberry and his wife, Janice, shared a wing of the upstairs to herself.

Christine Brimberry had the type of bedroom of which every little girl dreams. Bright tulips stand at attention on the white wallpaper. Small tulips are painted on each bathroom tile surrounding the tub.

It is a delicate set of rooms in which she lived and played. When the three-room area contained furniture and dolls, there were a lot of ruffles and frills, viewers were told.

The playroom area has two white window seats edged in bright green. The area could have been transformed into a sitting room.

For the boys, Michael and Scott, the decor was more rugged. Two bright blue low-lie, which every little girl dreams. Bright tulips stand at attention on the white wallpaper. Small tulips are painted on each bathroom tile surrounding the tub.

Centered in the room is a carpeted tunnel, just for play. The carpeting throughout the house is the same neutral beige. Thick. Deep. Plush.

Soldiers are on the wallpaper in the boys' wing. Blue ships sail across every few tiles spaced with solid, dark brown tiles in the boy's bathroom.

While the children played upstairs, their father could have conducted meetings in a basement conference room. A stained glass window with light behind it gives the illusion of daylight.

Also in the basement is another wet bar and a small kitchen for entertaining.

Even the less glamorous telephone and electrical systems are worth mentioning, the audience was told. Both systems look like they should be in utility company offices. Each wing of the house has its own system.

Two closed areas enclose the furnace and hot water systems. An 82-gallon hot water heater sits in the pool closet. It is not the heater for the pool. Just the water heater for part of the house. The home's gas and electric bills have been estimated at $1,000 a month. Three huge, red vacuums — one for each section of the house — filter the air.

A storage section of the basement contains stained glass and a chandelier. Some of the stained glass was never put into place.

Two large windows of stained glass have medieval figures on them.

Where they would have gone is uncertain. The Brimberys lived in the house for only a few months. It wasn't even really a home — hardly lived in at all, it was pointed out.

There are no scuff marks on the walls. No fingerprints anywhere. No carpet stains. No vestiges of life.

The only real reminders of existence are three sections of concrete outside, each with a child's name and footprints.

Who will buy the mansion is uncertain. St. Louis Cardinal catcher Darrell Porter is one name that has been mentioned. While sources say he indicated a desire to rent the home, the mansion remains on the selling block.

The eventual owner will buy not only a house, but a legend. A mystique.

Perhaps soon, there will be laughter and conversation in the house. Perhaps soon, it will be a home.

But for now, the house that Brimberry built stands empty, alone, the inhabitants gone, and with them the dreams that provided its foundation.

Travel-study in Europe offered

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a travel and study program in Europe this summer, concentrating on the history of chemistry.

Sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education and the department of chemistry, the eight-week travel-study trip will begin June 14 and continue through Aug. 9.

The program is geared to students and teachers who are interested in learning more about chemistry, science and the history of science. Participants will visit science museums and university and industrial laboratories where scientific discoveries of historical significance have been made.

The group will assemble in Paris, France, to begin the tour and will travel by private jet. The group will visit Belgium, Czechoslovakia, France, East Germany, Great Britain, the Netherlands, Italy and Switzerland.

Approximate cost of the eight-week trip is $3,300, which includes all travel except the group is assembled, hotel accommodations, two meals per day, and assorted lecture charges in connection with the program.

Participants will be expected to arrange their own round-trip travel plans between their homes to Paris. Shorter versions of the tour are also available.

MAJORITY FATALITIES LOWER

Traffic fatalities in Illinois during May decreased 1 percent from the same month of 1982, according to provisional figures released by the Illinois Department of Transportation and Illinois State Police.

The provisional total of 547 fatalities for the five months of 1983 is a decrease of 2.7 percent from the 562 deaths for the same period of 1982, and a decrease of 23.3 percent for the 695 deaths in 1981.

Enrollment will be restricted to 20 students. A travel and study program in Europe this summer, concentrating on the history of chemistry.

J. Edmund White, professor of chemistry at SIUE, and John H. Woltz, professor of chemistry and biochemistry at SIUE-Carbondale, are the instructors for the course.

Approximately five hours each day will be spent in course-connected lectures and activities, with ample time for individually planned visits to other locations.

The course may be taken either for academic credit or non-credit. Those wishing to enroll for credit will pay an additional charge of $14 per credit hour and a $10 registration fee. Students may register for two, four, six or eight quarter hours.

Some of the historic places the class will visit include the Institute Pasteur and Radium Institute in Paris, the Science Museum Leonardo Da Vinci in Milan, the Primm Mining Museum south of Prague, Dresden

Porcelain and Zwinger Museum, the Heidelberg University history of chemistry exhibit, the Gutenberg Printing Museum in Mainz, the Boerhaave Museum in Leiden, the rare book collection within Glasgow University's chemistry department, and Canterbury University.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Professor White in the SIUE department of chemistry at 1-692-2042 or the Office of Continuing Education at 1-692-3210.

Warns of solicitation for 'Today's Policeman'

A group called "Today's Policeman" and soliciting for advertisements in the Quad-City area, is not affiliated with local police departments and is not authorized to solicit for them, officials said yesterday.

A receipt issued for donations says that "Today's Policeman" is "an independent publication" and is not affiliated with any police department or special interest group," according to Granite City Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer. The group does, however, have a Granite City Post Office Box, according to the receipt.

"We are told they (advertisers) say they can help the Granite City by taking an ad. If so, we don't know anything about it," Veizer said.

Neither have the Illinois State Police nor Madison County Sheriff's Department authorized the solicitation in their names, officials said.

"When we run a fundraiser, we make it clear that we are the ones doing it and we will put the money to good use. We are not backing 'Today's Policeman' and don't know anything about it," Chief Veizer concluded.

Sewer repair

then we go from there."

Besides the Fehling Road break, the other serious problems are on Faith Avenue and Terrace Lane, Warfield said. The city believes all three occurred during the specified time period.

The breaks have occurred because the high water table caused by record rains, forces ground water to surround the sewer pipes, placing pressure on them. The joints on the pipes cannot handle the outside pressure and break, allowing the ground water to infiltrate the sewer system, he said.

Sections of the sewer system were placed as far as 18 feet into the ground and city officials have been concerned at recent council meetings that the placement of the pipes may be causing the problem.

The sections placed deepest into the ground were constructed during a particularly dry period, Warfield has told council members.

Monroe Brewer, city engineer, told ESDA officials Wednesday that "in a normal situation, the sewers could last 50 to 100 years with no problems."

However, rainfall this far this year has been 150 percent of normal and sewer breaks have plagued the city continually since last fall. Officials had seemed gloomy as news of grant denial after denial came through. This week changed that. "We feel pretty good about this. It's at least a start," Warfield said.

Each time it rains, his office is inundated with telephone calls from residents reporting flooding. "We've had too many sleepless nights," Warfield said. Every time a bad storm passes through the area, Warfield is called out — regardless of the time — to deal with the water.

Residents whose basements were flooded as a result of the sewer breaks will not be eligible for federal assistance, Jones said.

It is possible that subsidized, low-interest loans could be sought for some residents, but to qualify, at least 25 homes with 40 percent of damages uninsured would have to be found, Jones said. "None of them had at least some insurance," he said.

Governor Thompson had requested private and public aid. It is possible that a state appeal of the exclusion of Madison County could include a request for assistance to individuals.

Jones said the appeal to Reagan could include new damages not covered in the present disaster declaration, including tornado damage. If that appeal fails, the state then could seek low-interest loans from the Small Business Administration.

Farmers in the state have reported extensive damage from flooding, particularly in the southern counties.

The counties declared disaster areas were Alexander, Calhoun, Franklin, Greene, Jackson, Jersey, Macoupin, Monroe, Pulaski, Randolph and White.

Besides Madison, the counties denied assistance were St. Clair, Edwards, Macon, Union and Wash.

Damages in the 17 counties for which Thompson requested federal assistance totaled $41.3 million, with $7.5 million in public property damage and $34.8 million in damages to homes, businesses and farms.

Thompson has pledged to seek additional assistance for farmers and others in Southern Illinois not covered by the federal funds.

Although tornado damages in Granite City are not included in the funds, Jones said that the May 1 storm is what initially prompted the disaster declaration because of the onslaught of rain it brought to the area.

The CD application is separate from the reimbursement program. The city received the full amount of its request although officials anticipated an allocation of no more than $200,000.

The county will receive $1.2 million in federal jobs bill funds. There were 76 applications for CD funds in the county.

"...And Then There Were None"

Blast furnaces being demolished last year after U.S. Steel closed its huge Youngstown Works in Ohio.

Because of the crisis which exists within the American steel industry, we believe it is important to share the following message with the American public.

Our country's basic steel industry is face to face with the greatest crisis in its history. Unless the Reagan administration takes immediate action, the industry will be severely damaged and could disappear.

When Jimmy Carter became President seven years ago, there were 46 large, ore-based steel mills operating in the U.S., capable of producing 145 million tons of raw steel a year. During the Carter years, six of them were closed. Under the current administration, nine have been closed permanently. Two others have been closed for a year. More may close soon, leaving our country dangerously dependent on foreign steel producers.

The national interest is clear. At stake is the loss of hundreds of thousands of jobs connected with the steel industry, the investment of countless steel company shareholders, and the security of our country.

The immediate threat lies in a deal being pressed by the U.S. Steel Corporation and the highly-subsidized, government-owned British Steel Corporation. If this agreement is carried out, U.S. Steel would abandon its steel-making facilities at its Fairless Hills plant in Pennsylvania but continue to operate the steel-finishing plant at the same location.

U.S. Steel would then buy millions of tons of semi-finished steel "slabs" from two government-owned British plants and finish them at Fairless. U.S. Steel says this would be cheaper than modernizing its own steel-making facilities at Fairless. This may be true because of the huge subsidies the British government has poured into these plants. Last fall, the Department of Commerce determined that this subsidy amounted to 20.33% of the price of imported British steel.

THE ADMINISTRATION MUST ACT NOW TO SAVE AMERICA'S BASIC STEEL INDUSTRY

Since the U.S. Steel deal was announced, Brazil and other countries have rushed to make their own proposals for dumping subsidized steel on the American market. We believe all of these schemes are in clear violation of domestic trade laws, but laws are meaningless without enforcement.

Executives of other American steel companies have said they will be compelled by competitive pressure to import subsidized raw steel if U.S. Steel gets away with its British Steel plan.

This would destroy the American basic steel industry. During a time of national emergency, dependence on foreign steel would be as disastrous as dependence on foreign oil.

During the presidential campaign, Mr. Reagan often demonstrated an awareness of steel industry problems and made several promises which have not been kept by officials in his administration.

Here are some of them.

- On October 2, 1980, at the Cyclops Mill in Bridgeville, Pa., he promised to do three things which, if carried out, would go far toward resolving the steel industry's problems. He said he would:

- 1) Enforce anti-dumping steel laws to ensure fair trade in steel;
- 2) Reinstate the Trigger Price Mechanism for steel;

- 3) Act vigorously to negotiate reductions in foreign subsidies and trade barriers whenever possible.

These things are not being done. The Trigger Price Mechanism provides a formula for setting fair minimum price for imported steel. It has not been enforced since early 1982. This has encouraged foreign countries to flood our market with subsidized steel.

- In that same speech at Cyclops, he promised to reduce the 13% unemployment rate in the steel industry. Six days later, in Youngstown, Ohio, he said he would do whatever it took to get jobless steelworkers back to work. Since then the steelworker unemployment rate has jumped from 13% to 46%.

Layoffs of a few months have stretched out to continuous years of unemployment for many iron and coal miners, steelworkers and others. Whole communities are being wiped out. Family life is being destroyed for hundreds of thousands of hard-working Americans.

Steel-related unemployment will be much higher if the deal between U.S. Steel and British Steel becomes a reality and sets a precedent for similar schemes with other subsidized foreign producers. They, too, are eager to unload raw steel at prices below the cost of production, thus exporting their unemployment to us.

The President has the power and authority to protect the national interest in this crisis. We ask the President and officials of his administration to understand the urgency of the problem and set in motion the administrative actions which are now so desperately needed.

Specifically, we ask the President to act in these areas:

- 1) Direct Commerce Secretary Baldrige and Trade Ambassador Brock to launch an immediate investigation to determine if the U.S. Steel-British Steel proposal would violate our domestic trade laws or the United States-European Economic Community Arrangement. This is not a difficult investigation and should be completed within 30 days.

- 2) Direct Secretary Baldrige to invoke the procedures set forth in the 1982 EEC Arrangement and call for an immediate consultation with the European Coal and Steel Community on the extent and implications of semi-finished steel imports in this country.

- 3) If consultations do not resolve the problem, the administration should use existing procedures of the federal trade laws to promptly prohibit imports of subsidized steel.

- 4) Direct the appropriate officials within his administration to carry out the promises he made to steelworkers and the steel industry during the presidential campaign.

Time is short. The powers of the President of the United States are great. The time to act is now. AMERICAN STEELWORKERS AND THEIR INDUSTRY CANNOT COMPETE WITH FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS.

Swing Choir bids farewell to its leader

A FINAL PERFORMANCE by the Southern Express Swing Choir entertains the River Bluff Council Girl Scout annual awards dinner in the Granite City Township Hall early this week. The audition group, which mixes singing and dancing, is directed and choreographed by Mary Ann Bright, who is among the teachers who have been honorably dismissed by the Granite City School Board. The group hopes to reform next year, probably under a different name. At the right, during the South Vocal Department's annual dinner recently, Randall Dunn, a graduating senior, presents Mrs. Bright with a scrapbook of appreciation for her hard work and leadership. On the table is a scrapbook the students prepared of publicity received by her students, as well as personal photos and memories.

Hagnauer joins board of development group

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer's appointment to the board of directors of the Southwestern Illinois Areawide Business Development Finance Corporation (SIABDFC) was announced this week by corporation officials.

Hagnauer, long an advocate of economic development, will join the board of 16 directors which represent the seven-county Region served by the SIABDFC. Hagnauer resides in Granite City.

Mr. Hagnauer's knowledge of the needs and potential of Madison County, as well as his understanding of its relationship to the economic health of the entire region will be great assets to the organization," said Ron Wallace, corporation president.

As a director, Hagnauer will participate in formulating the operational policies of the corporation and have a vote on loan activities conducted by the board.

Southwestern Illinois Areawide Business Development Finance Corporation (SIABDFC) was formed by bankers and public officials to provide long-term, low-interest, business expansion loans to eligible firms within the region. Although action to form the corporation was initiated by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, the SIABDFC operates independently.

It serves the same Region as does the Planning Commission—Bond, Clinton, Madison, Monroe, Randolph, St. Clair and Washington Counties.

SIABDFC is a Certified SBA 503 Development Company. As such, it is authorized to sell debentures (with SBA backing) and loan the proceeds to eligible small business firms. Small businesses may borrow funds to expand, providing the expansion creates new, permanent jobs. Up to 40 percent of a firm's expansion project costs may be financed at long-term, low-interest rates through the certified corporation; 50 percent will be financed through the firm's local bank, and the firm itself will put up 10 percent. Preliminary studies of small business needs and potential in the region indicate the corporation will help to create more than 500 new, permanent jobs during the next two years.

Loans are for fixed asset financing only, including land, building, and long-life equipment and machinery. Amounts available to qualified firms are based upon the number of jobs the expansion will create. Usually one job created for each

How to cope with lawn mushrooms

By RON CORNWELL

County Farm Adviser: We have received a few calls this spring about mushrooms in lawns.

These fungi feed on decaying matter and remove it from the lawn.

It may be a decaying stump, roots from a tree cut down in the recent past, boards or other sources of wood buried in the soil.

If possible, dig up and remove the source of dead or decaying organic matter from the lawn. Otherwise, take a rake and destroy the mushrooms as they emerge in the lawn.

Once the organic matter is gone from the soil, the mushrooms will not return.

Full day planned at Scott AFB open house

Officials at Scott Air Force Base have released the schedule of events for the base's annual open house this Saturday.

The base, located seven miles east of Belleville, will open to the public at 9:30 a.m. A display of radio-controlled model airplane flying will be provided from 9:30 to 10:30 by the Belleville Radio Controlled Flyers. A demonstration of military working dogs will take place from 10:30 until 10:50, followed by a patriotic parachute flag jump performed by the U.S. Army Golden Knights.

The space shuttle Enterprise will be on display the entire day, mated to its Boeing 747 transporter aircraft. Although the Enterprise has not flown in space, it was the first space shuttle to be released from the 747 for flight tests.

From 11:45 until noon, the Scott Air Force Base drill team will put on a demonstration of precision marching and other intricate maneuvers, followed by the scheduled noon arrival of the F-15 Eagle airplane. While attention is still focused on the flightline area, the base Security Police will demonstrate their versatility by rappelling from an Army helicopter hovering high over the ground. This is scheduled for 12:15 p.m.

The Air Force Band of Mid-America will present an hour long country western show beginning at 1, followed by another performance by the drill team. At 2:10 the military working dogs will again be presented, followed by rappelling from the Golden Knights' final performance of the day, their "mass exit" parachute jump.

The highlight of the day's activities will be take off at 3:30 of the Air Force aerial demonstration team, the Thunderbirds, preceded by a brief ceremony in front of the VIP reviewing stand.

The Thunderbirds are flying their new F-16 Falcon aircraft, and are visiting Scott AFB for the first time since 1981. Their display of precision flying is scheduled to last approximately one half hour and the open house will conclude at 4:30.

In addition to the full day of scheduled activities, many organizations will have display booths set up inside the large hangar on the flightline, providing showgoers a variety of things to see and do. These include a demonstration of clog dancing, as well as a display of model aircraft and information about various

Air Force programs. More than 40 such booths will be set up for the event.

Many military and civilian aircraft will be on display the entire day, including the world's largest airplane the C-5 Galaxy. Also at the open house will be several vintage World War II aircraft flown in by the Confederate Air Force. The remainder of the 40 aircraft on display include various fighters, trainers, helicopters and the largest aerial refueling plane in the Air Force inventory, the KC-10 Advanced Cargo-Tanker.

Aircraft flown by the Strategic Air Command. Many of the planes at the Open House will be opened up to allow visitors into the aircraft, including the C-5 Galaxy and the KC-10.

Many refreshment stands will be operating throughout the day offering soft drinks, hot dogs, hamburgers, snow cones, and other assorted foods and drinks. In addition, many souvenirs will be on sale at the event.

Because a record crowd is expected for this year's open house, Scott officials are requesting that visitors carpool whenever possible.

Buses will be parked in a lot close to the demonstration area and will be given priority access to exit routes when the open house concludes. Handicapped parking also will be provided.

For information about bus arrivals and parking, interested persons may call 1-256-3674. Additional information about open house events and scheduled activities is available by calling 256-3655.

Venice not listed as Enterprise Zone

The City of Venice is not among the Illinois areas approved for Enterprise Zone designation in the program's first year, it was learned this week.

East St. Louis was named an Enterprise Zone. That community is one of six areas whose applications were approved from a total of 19 which sought such designation prior to the Dec. 31, 1982, deadline.

An announcement of the successful applicants was made by Governor James R. Thompson. Two more zones, both located in Chicago, will be announced before July 1.

"The purpose of Illinois' new Enterprise Zone Act is to foster economic development in depressed areas of the state. Each of these localities will benefit greatly from the host of incentives and advantages included in this legislative package," Thompson said. Illinois is among 14 states that have set up enterprise zones for economic development.

Under the law, the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) can name up to eight Enterprise Zones each year for six years, with the terms of the benefits to run up to 20 years.

DCCA Director Peter B. Fox said, "While each area for which we received an application qualified as a depressed area, we were restricted by the law to name only eight zones this year."

"We encourage the localities which were not named this year to reapply for consideration in 1984, and we will work with them and others to help them comply with all application requirements," he stressed.

Venice officials were unavailable for comment, but it is expected the local community will reapply for Enterprise Zone status.

In accordance with the act, each designated Enterprise Zone is no smaller than half a square mile and no larger than 10 square miles.

Areas of Decatur, Canton, Joliet, Rockford and Peoria were approved, along with East St. Louis, as Enterprise Zones.

also was scrapped when residents again objected.

A representative of C. D. Peters Construction Co., which has not yet turned over the drainage pond to the city, said the pond could not be pumped out until Saturday morning, due to the heavy rainfall filling the sewer lines. The spokesman said the company would not have turned on the pump during the storm without the approval of the city because of the "abnormal" weather conditions.

Mrs. Perjak and Second Ward Alderman William Whitmer debated in raised voices about how the retention pond linkup might be financed. Whitmer said the sanitary sewer break situation should be given funding priority over the storm sewer problem. He also suggested that the Fourth Ward support its own bond issue to remedy the flooding problem.

Mrs. Perjak said she thought there was some Madison County Community Development money available for the project, but did not know how much.

The feasibility of the project to link the two drainage ponds has not yet been reviewed by the city engineer. The vote approval of the council was not an endorsement of the plan. The bids are intended only to assist aldermen in evaluating the project.

Madison acts to speed repairs of shabby homes

By DONNA KIMBRO

of the Press-Record

In a continuing effort to improve property conditions in the city of Madison or proceed with condemnation notices, the Madison City Council Tuesday night discussed several homes where landlords or owner residents have not complied with promises made to Building Inspector John Duko on repairs.

Vasil Graville, acting building inspector, answered questions asked by the aldermen and mayor related to a house which has been razed at 2008 Harris St., but where the debris has not been removed and an open basement is filled with water, creating a health and safety hazard.

"The owner believes the city should haul away the debris and fill the basement," Graville told the council.

The city attorney responded by saying the owner is responsible for razing a structure and cleaning up the area, not the city.

Graville was instructed to visit real estate property in Madison and West Madison, known to be in disrepair and prepare written inspection reports to be submitted to the council at its next meeting. At that time, aldermen will move to have the owners given a written notice to demolish or repair the houses within a certain time limit, or legal steps will be taken to solve the situation.

Alderman Don Garrett

spoke to the council on a complaint by the residents in the 800 block of Jackson who are disturbed by the snakes and overgrown weeds across the street from their homes.

"I think this is the responsibility of the railroad to keep the weeds cut and eliminate the conditions which encourage snakes to habitate the area," Garrett added.

Mayor Mike Sasyk advised Graville to check the area and identify the snakes as to whether they are poisonous or not and the council will then make recommendations to have the area cleaned.

Another problem brought to my attention is the worn out trash cans at the Garesche-Grenier Housing Project, which also is a health hazard, especially with the hot summer months advancing, Garrett said.

Mayor Sasyk announced new cans have been ordered and will be placed at the housing project, as well as new dumpsters which are to be placed on the parking lots, away from the cars to minimize any fire hazard to the automobiles.

In other business, the councilman approved paying $750 to the city of Madison and the mayor asked Alderman Thomas Gordon to set a date for a city finance and insolvency meeting, as well as one for discussion on revenue sharing funds expected by the city.

In closing, the mayor announced the new bus for senior citizens was on display in front of the city hall for all the aldermen to inspect.

Tuesday, June 14, and the public meeting on revenue sharing disbursements for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 21.

Council members, at an earlier meeting, approved a request from Amedeo, Inc., to change the name of Camino Drive to Amedeo Drive in the Maers Industrial Park.

A request from the manager of Croatian Homes to remove curbs and sidewalks on the 10th Street side of the building and have them replaced to provide angle parking on 10th Street was referred to the superintendent of streets and aldermen of that ward.

When a report is received on the feasibility of the project, the council will discuss the change during a regular meeting, the mayor said.

Approval was granted to the Rev. Frank Kordek, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, to have the 800, 900 and 1000 blocks along Lee Avenue closed for the parish festival June 17, 18 and 19th.

A report from Chief of Police Donald Bridick indicated a 13 percent increase in crime for the month of May, 1983, as compared to the month of May, 1982.

There were burglaries at five residences, one school, three warehouses, one business place and three automobiles, the report stated. Also there were four assault and battery cases, 12 auto thefts and three auto thefts during the month. Fine money collected during May amounted to $1,129.

In closing, the mayor announced the new bus for senior citizens was on display in front of the city hall for all the aldermen to inspect.

Coalition urges more school funds

Arlene Zielke, head of the Illinois Coalition for Public Education, said Tuesday the $50,000-member coalition is fully supporting an increase in the state income tax "to achieve the revenue necessary to allow the state to meet its constitutional goal — to bear the primary responsibility for the cost of public education."

"It is clear," she said, "that in recent years Illinois has not been funding public education adequately. State support has diminished significantly."

Because of the cutbacks occurring this year, Illinois now contributes less than 38 percent of the cost of educating elementary and secondary students."

She characterized the current situation as "very threatening" and charged that public education in Illinois is on the brink of disaster.

Asserting there has not been an increase in the income tax since its adoption in 1970, she said, "Now is the time to alleviate the situation by increasing the state income tax, which is the most equitable means for raising desperately needed funds for our schools."

She said the level of appropriations presently proposed without an income tax increase would "create a major contradiction to the recent report of the National Commission on Excellence. We are a nation at risk."

The coalition was organized in 1980 by the Illinois PTA, Illinois Association of School Administrators, Illinois Federation of Teachers, Illinois Association of School Business Officials, Illinois Community Education Association, Illinois Association of School Boards, Illinois Education Association, Illinois Principals Association and Professional Educators of Illinois.

School Board Decides Tuesday Night

Granite City High to join Southwestern in 84-85

Gateway East Conference may not survive the transition

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — After a nine-year absence, a Granite City high school will be a member of the Southwestern Conference.

Tuesday evening, the Granite City Board of Education voted unanimously to rejoin the conference which Granite City High School left eight years ago to become an independent, then later a member of the Gateway East Conference.

The Warriors left the Southwestern Conference in June 1975, after the 1974-75 season and two years after the formation of its sister school Granite City North in 1973. Although not an official member of the SWC and an independent for the next four years, the Warriors continued to play SWC teams regularly until the 1979-80 school year, the first year of the Gateway East Conference.

The school board's decision Tuesday to re-enter the Southwestern Conference, which was recommended by both North's and South's principals and athletic directors and Joe Fedra, District Nine's director of athletics and physical education, opens the way for the Warriors to rejoin Collinsville, Alton, Belleville East, Belleville West and East St. Louis Senior in the Southwestern Conference for the 1984-85 school year.

The Warriors' reassociation with the

"I don't think there's any hope now for the Gateway East Conference. I'm afraid there's little or no chance now to save it."

Roger Smith
Granite City High Athletic Director

Southwestern Conference comes on the heels of District Nine's decision to consolidate both Granite City high schools this fall. The consolidation of the Granite City High schools would make Granite City High School (3,185 students), the second largest school in the SWC, behind East St. Louis Senior with 3,632 students.

Alton will be the third largest school in the conference with 2,439, followed by Belleville East, fourth (2,235), Belleville West, fifth (2,186), and Collinsville, the smallest in the SWC with 2,194 students.

Despite the consolidation of the Granite City high schools this fall, Granite City High School will not compete in the Southwestern Conference for the coming (1983-84) school year because of its already pre-arranged scheduling commitments.

Instead, Granite City and the other teams in the Gateway East Conference will have no alternative than to compete as independents for the coming school year, as IHSA guidelines require conferences to consist of no less than six schools.

The Gateway East Conference and the Southwestern Conference, which each formally had just five school members, were exempt from that requirement because of the Illinois High School Association's Grandfather Clause of June 1980. The IHSA six-team guideline was approved after the formation of each the GEC and the realigned SWC.

With the latest development, the Gateway East Conference now finds itself with only three members schools—Althoff, Edwardsville and Cahokia—something most coaches see as an unavoidable end to the GEC.

"I don't think there's any hope now for the Gateway East Conference," said Roger Smith, who was named as Granite City High School's new athletic director during the same board meeting.

"I'm afraid there's little or no chance now to save it. Before they needed just one new member to remain a conference. With the loss of North and now, with Granite City making the switch to Southwestern, there's little chance of it surviving," Smith said.

Smith said he had mixed emotions about joining the SWC.

"I'm sort of torn between both conferences," he said. "There are a lot of nice people in the GEC, but, too, I'm looking forward to dealing with the folks in the Southwestern."

Similarly, most SWC officials are eager to have Granite City once again in the SWC. Collinsville's Athletic Director, Frank Pilot, was elated about the news.

"We're real happy to have them in the conference again," Pilot said. "It'll be good for Collinsville and good for Granite City. It's good news for everyone all around," he said referring to both Collinsville and Granite City High Schools.

"Our relationship with Granite City has always been a favorable one," Pilot concluded.

Robert Middleton, principal of Alton Senior High School and current president of the Southwestern Conference, was responsible for issuing the invitation to Granite City High School last February.

Midleton said when he learned about the consolidation of the Granite City high schools, he, acting as SWC president, extended an invitation to all Gateway East Conference member schools to join SWC.

"It's my understanding that Granite City is hastily preparing a formal application. They've been invited, and we see no possible way that it would be rejected."

"There's no question about it," Middleton said. "It'll be a tremendous advantage having them back in the conference. Their returning to the conference will once again make the Southwestern a good, solid downstate conference."

As for the remainder of the GEC member schools Middleton said the invitation remains open join the Southwestern Conference. Although he admits few, if any, schools will accept.

"I don't have a crystal ball, but I don't honestly see Cahokia (1,549 students) and Althoff (968 students) joining. Although, I hope Edwardsville would consider," Middleton said.

Both Edwardsville (1,718 students) and Cahokia were members of the Southwestern Conference until 1975 when they too sought entrance into the Gateway East Conference.

On Wednesday, Edwardsville Athletic Director, Dick Ford, said he was surprised with Granite City's timing to jump to Southwestern, but, as he put it, "it was inevitable."

"Things aren't looking good for the Gateway East Conference right now," Ford said. "We tried to recruit another school without much success, so I guess Granite City figured that they better get off while there was time."

And as for whether Edwardsville would also accept Middleton's invitation into the SWC, Ford said that was "highly improbable."

"We've (Tiger coaches) talked about it before, when the invitation was extended, and nearly everyone voted against it. I don't see it happening. Not right away anyhow," Ford said.

Representing at least half of the Belleville members of the Southwestern Conference teams, West principal Jerry Turner said he was "very happy" that Granite City has decided to re-enter the SWC.

"We've always cherished the Belleville-Granite City rivalry. They've always been a well-organized school system."

For the record, the Board of Education's unanimous decision vote to re-enter the SWC was 6-0. Board member Tom Miosky was not present for the vote.

The motion favoring the SWC decision was made by David Partney and seconded by Robert Maxwell.

Board member Dewey Melton voiced "some reluctance" about re-entering the SWC, but still voted in favor of the motion.

Kahoks win GC Sectional; advance to state finale

By JIM SCHLUETER
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Kahok baseball players Glenn Hefflin and Ray Seaman both plan to undergo surgery when the high school season is over, but Murphysboro probably wishes the appointments were a little sooner.

Hefflin and Seaman looked plenty healthy in leading CHS to a 6-2 win over the Red Devils in the Granite City South Sectional final Tuesday. The Kahoks earned a state tourney berth and were scheduled to take on Peoria Richwoods today at 11:30 a.m.

Seaman, who needs knee surgery, ripped two hits and drove in three runs. Hefflin, who has kidney problems, lofted a solo homer and double. Hefflin also robbed Len Novara of a two-run homer in the third with a leaping grab at the left-field fence.

Hefflin injured his knee on the catch, but he recovered enough to return to his hot-hitting form.

"It would have been over the fence," Hefflin said while holding the sectional plaque. "The center fielder (Dale Kuechly) said I had a lot of room or I might not have gone for it."

Hefflin came through again by golfing a low pitch from Doug Lyerla to lead off the fourth and hit a home run at 2-2. The Kahoks then scored two more runs in the inning on no hits, thanks to some poor Murphysboro fielding.

Pete Delkus, who pitched the game, walked before Seaman hit a potential double-play ball to shortstop Kevin Bastien. But Bastien threw the ball into right field, allowing Holten to score.

Delkus advanced to third and appeared to make a baserunning mistake when he tried to score on Tom Grimm's grounder back to the pitcher. Lyerla could have trapped Delkus in a rundown, but he dropped the ball and allowed Delkus to score.

Seaman then put the game out of reach with a two-run single in the fifth, his second run-scoring hit of the day. He gave the Kahoks a 1-0 lead in the second with a base hit.

Seaman, the Kahok third baseman, has torn cartilage in his right knee, but he was feeling no pain Tuesday.

"It feels great, I'm just glad that we're going," he said. "I just had to wait for my pitch and knock it right back where it came from."

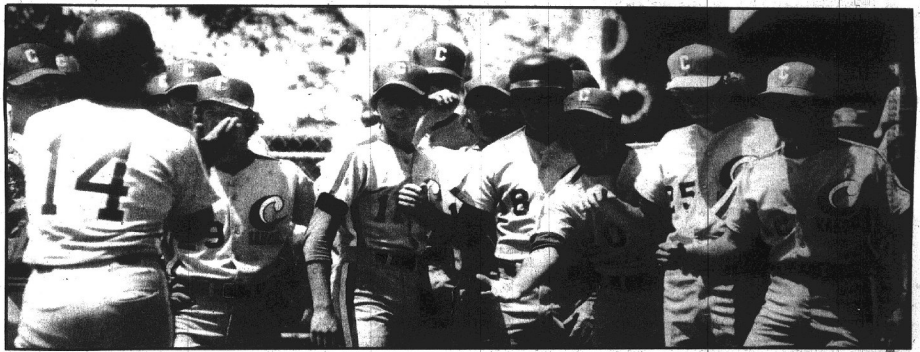

Kahok Coach Russ Keene knows the effort Hefflin and Seaman have given this year, despite their ailments.

"Glenn doesn't say much, but he comes to play," Keene said. "Ray's probably one of the toughest kids I've ever been around."

The Kahoks had drubbed Murphysboro 10-0 and 20-1 in a double-header earlier this year, and that had Keene worried.

"I was hoping the players wouldn't remember that (the two wins) and I hoped their players didn't remember that either," Keene said.

But the Kahok pitching came through once again, as senior right-hander Tom Lewis fired a seven-hitter. Only one of the runs was earned and he didn't allow a runner past second in the last three innings.

Lewis struck out four and walked one in his seven innings of work. He improved his record to 7-2. The Kahoks upped their mark to 20-81, while the Devils finished at 16-8.

Analysis: GCS Sectional a humbling experience

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The first round of the Granite City South Class AA Sectional baseball tournament Monday was a humbling experience for both O'Fallon and Edwardsville.

O'Fallon's 31-4 record going into the tournament was easily the best of any team going into the sectional. However, Collinsville pitching ace Pete Delkus was simply too much for the Panthers as the Kahoks won the game 3-1.

Edwardsville, 28-12 prior to the tournament, was favored to walk over Murphysboro, especially with Brian Clawson, who had a .36 earned run average this season, pitching. Murphysboro knocked Clawson out in the first inning and rolled over the Tigers 7-3.

Collinsville defeated Murphysboro 6-2 to win the sectional title and advance to the Class AA State Finals Friday and Saturday (See related story). Collinsville won the state championship in 1980.

COLLINSVILLE 3, O'FALLON 1

Collinsville baseball coach Russ Keene is convinced that the only way a person can appreciate Pete Delkus is by stepping up to the plate and trying to hit one of his sidearm pitches.

Delkus, who pitched a no-hitter against Granite City South in the finals of the Collinsville Regional, threw a five-hitter against the Panthers, which had a 34-1 team batting average.

"You really have to try to hit off him to really appreciate his pitching,"

Keene said. "I know how difficult it is because I tried to hit off him. I had to get my hands to him."

"The sidearm delivery throws the batter off because they're so used to throwing overhand. The ball comes in on you and then it dips over the plate. His breaking pitch and his slider are really hard to hit," Keene said.

The Panthers, like the other teams before them, found out how tough he is to hit.

O'Fallon left eight runners on base and managed to score only in the seventh inning. Even then, the Panthers needed the help of an error to score that run.

Collinsville scored two runs in the first inning when designated hitter Tom Lewis led off with a double, Mick Cain walked, and both runners scored on Brett Holten's single.

The Kahok's other run came in the fifth. Marc Parker hit a single, Glen Hefflin hit a single to move him over, and Holten drove in Parker with a single.

In the seventh inning, Scott Higgins reached on an error for the Panthers and scored on a double by John Thomas. O'Fallon had runners on first and third but failed to score more runs.

"If you don't hit with men on base and your best hitters up to bat, you don't deserve to win a big game like this," O'Fallon Coach Robert Hodgson said.

"When you get to this level, you have to take it one game at a time."

Holten was 3-for-3 and Tom Grimm was 2-3 for the Kahoks.

MURPHYSBORO 7, EDWARDSVILLE 3

Brain "Pick" Clawson simply didn't have any luck at all against Murphysboro. After the first two batters he faced in the inning were put away, the bottom fell out for Clawson.

Murphysboro's Todd Dobbs, Dave Taylor and Doug Lyerla all hit singles.

In addition, Tiger shortstop Brian Padgett made a crucial error: Len Novara walked, and Brad McDougall hit a triple to knock Clawson out. Dave Tippy then added a RBI single to drive in McDougall and give Murphysboro a 5-0 lead.

Murphysboro added two more runs in the third inning to give Dobbs, the winning pitcher, all the runs he needed to work with.

The Tigers scored once in the fourth and made an attempt to come back in the seventh inning. The Tiger scored two runs, but left the bases loaded.

In fact, stranding runners was a major problem for the Tigers. Edwardsville left 13 runners on base for the game and left the bases loaded twice.

"If wouldn't have had that error in the first inning, we could have got out of the inning, and Clawson probably would have pitched a good game the rest of the way," Edwardsville Coach Tom Pile said. "It doesn't help that we left 13 runners either."

Murphysboro Coach Dick Spiller was pleased that Dobbs picked up a new pitch prior to the sectionals, the sinker. "He's been pitching very well for us the last couple of weeks, and he got us out of some tight situations in this game," Spiller said.

District Nine appoints GCHS fall coaching staff

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Board of Education, at its meeting last Tuesday night, approved coaching assignments for several teams. Other coaching assignments will be made at a later date.

The board approved the appointment of Tom Wyrstek as Granite City High School's head football coach. Wyrstek, who was the varsity football coach at Granite City North will be assisted by Bob Siegemeyer, Ron Yates, Gus Lignouli, Bryan Wilkinson and John Toncoff who is retired.

Gene Baker was appointed the varsity soccer coach while Mel Bunting was approved as Baker's assistant. The two have each piloted the Granite City South program for several years.

Merlin (Pete) Robinson will be cross-country coach while Russ Chappell was named the head golf coach. Both Robinson and Chappell were coaches at North High School.

Dick Harmon, who was the boys' tennis coach at Granite City South for the last several years has received the nod for the boys' team and the girls' team. The girls play in the fall while the boys play in the spring.

The only other fall appointment was to Wilma Schulze, who will be coaching volleyball again this year.

Although not fall sports, the board did make some other appointments. Don Deterding, Granite City South's basketball coach, has been named basketball coach for Granite City High School.

The only other appointment was made in the wrestling program. Coach Bill "Red" Schmitt, who has coached in Granite City for more than 30 years, has been named Granite City High's wrestling coach.

In Legate Men's League

Huniak: High averages speak louder than words

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

The outstanding, even brilliance of the bowlers here in the Quad-City area, has been the best kept secret in the St. Louis metropolitan press-media since the Manhattan Atomic Bomb project.

To substantiate this position just take the year-in-and-year-out totals posted in the prestigious Legate Men's Classic League each winter at the Bowland Lanes on the northern edge of Granite City.

For the past 10 years, more or less, the individual leader at Bowland has been David Lee Huniak, a lean and leathery six footer, a native of Madison now living in Granite City.

As anchor this season on the brilliant Renaissance team, Huniak posted a mind-boggling 223.8 pin per game average, tops in the whole metropolitan area and surely up there high in the national figures.

In fact, four of the top (and listed) individual high averages for the just completed season were posted by Huniak and three of his teammates: Randy Choate (227.3), second behind Huniak; fourth was his real close buddy, Terry Clark with a 223.5 and finally, in the seventh slot was Adron Cahill with a truly sensational 222.9 pin average.

To wind out the contributions of the two other members of the Renaissance squad, Steve Bradbury recorded a not too bad 214.7 pin average, while the young bow wonder of the team, young (17) Steve Landys fired a truly remarkable (for some one so young) season 202.9 total.

Says Huniak, with obvious pride in his prize pupil and prodigy: "Landys will, I predict, become one of bowling's greatest stars if he keeps on working on his game."

Huniak disclosed that young Landys is working on a startling new delivery: not using his thumb in the ball's hole. He (Landys) claims that it gives his delivery more power. The 31-year-old Huniak noted that he wished that Landys would return to the regular delivery he has used because he's using the new delivery with such outstanding success.

Huniak, as mentioned, went to school in Madison, and is another outstanding athlete product of that little enclave of southwestern Illinois which has produced so many great sports figures: John (Champ) Summers, Don Freeman, Dan Reilly, John Toncoff and many, many others.

Why haven't you turned pro and gone after those big money prizes being won by the nation's top bowlers, he was asked: "I think that I would do OK on the tour, but when you have a wife and two children depending on you and a good job (at Granite City Steel), I've just felt that the gamble was just too risky."

Funny thing, the deadly serious Huniak didn't take up bowling until after he turned 21. "I was working the Mill's cold roll strip when I was asked to join the unit's pin team along with my Dad, Bob King, Carl Calender, Jim Spanberger and Al Crawford. We bowled every Tuesday night in the Granite City Steel League. Says he of that first year: "I was a rummty ... I posted a lousy 150 pin average. However, falling in love with the sport, I got down to business and trained and really worked at it and upped my per game average to a not too bad 190 average in one year's time."

He points out that the scores in bowling considered this: in the past five years prior to the 1982-83 campaign consider his season totals: 822, 811, 810, 808, and 804. He appeared most proud of the fact that he'd accomplished that feat "without the aid of a single 300, perfect game posted." However, it must be added he's had some perfectly tremendous individual outings. He's rolled four 300 games, four 299 efforts and two 298s.

There are very few in the nation who can match his efforts on the lanes.

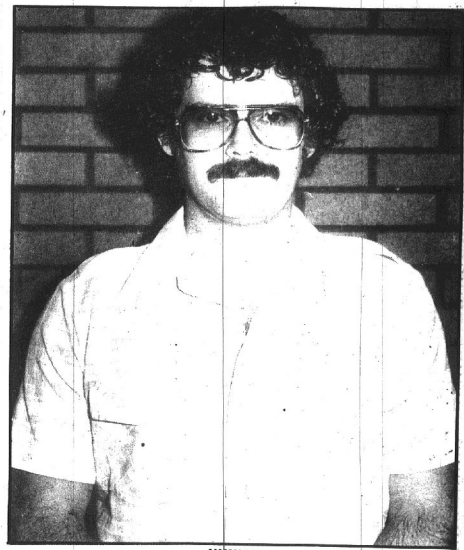

average was good; now you almost have to regularly bowl 220-plus to be among the leaders."

Huniak's says "Paul Stafford of Edwardsville was the best head-and-head bowler he had ever watched. He beat the legendary Nelson Buster in a match for a reputed $1,000 bet at the Tri-Mor lanes." Dave's first hero was Jim Vreclik, who at 75 years of age, is still actively bowling. "I watched him in action and initiated every move he made. He's in the ABC's Hall of Fame, you know ... so, what he showed me had a lasting impression on my game."

But, back to Huniak and his Renaissance team's 1982-83 showing in the Legate (Max) Men Classic. For the first time in five years, he and his teammates were beaten, but just barely by five points. Edging Huniak and his mates was the Belleville team, the Archway's, who posted a 1111 team total to the Granite City's group's 1106.

Huniak thinks that his buddy, Terry Clark, is either one or two in the entire St. Louis bowling circles; in addition, he says that he (Clark) is an outstanding golfer and an all-around softball player. And, if one needs a clincher as to Clark's ability, Huniak adds: "There's very few who can match him in pool's 8-ball competition."

In conclusion, if one needs additional evidence of Huniak's overall excellence in bowling consider this: in the past five years prior to the 1982-83 campaign consider his season totals: 822, 811, 810, 808, and 804. He appeared most proud of the fact that he'd accomplished that feat "without the aid of a single 300, perfect game posted." However, it must be added he's had some perfectly tremendous individual outings. He's rolled four 300 games, four 299 efforts and two 298s.

Granite City Stars recruit Dean

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Tim Dean, forward for the 1982 Granite City High School North soccer team, is the fourth recruit of Larry Petri, soccer coach of the Granite City Center, Granite City's fledgling junior college.

Dean joins first recruit and former teammate Benny Nolan and two St. Louis athletes who have shown intent to attend the Granite City College. Unlike four-year colleges and universities, junior college athletes are not signed. They simply intend or "show intent" to attend a junior college.

Petri, also of Granite City, said he approached Dean approximately a month ago about recruitment, but the formal announcement of Dean's intentions didn't come until Tuesday.

Dean, who played varsity soccer for three of his four years as a North Steeler, scored seven goals and assisted in seven others last year, the final Steeler season. His highest moment, he contends, came last season against Belleville Altoft when he teamed with Nolan to score four goals against the Crusaders, a Gateway East Conference opponent.

How does he feel about attending Granite City College and playing soccer in and on the same facility in which he grew up?

"It won't be like college at first," Dean said about the Granite City Center. "But I'll get used to it. As far as playing on that field, it won't be difficult," he said. "I love that field. I always have."

NEW RECRUIT. Larry Petri, coach of the Granite City Center soccer team, stands with his latest recruit, former Granite City North Steeler Tim Dean. Dean became Petri's fourth recruit of the season Tuesday when he formally announced his intentions to attend GCC this fall.

It's no accident that Petri recruited both Dean and Nolan, the Stars' coach says. As Petri put it, "the team's offense was anemic last year. We didn't score the goals needed to win. That's where Petri hopes his two Granite City recruits will best serve the Granite City College."

"Their statistics have proven that they work well together. The fact that they've played together before is just that much of a jump they'll have on the other guys," he said. "The fact that they've played together in the past helps the whole system."

Soccer will occupy only part of the 18-year-old's time this fall. As a student at Granite City College, he'll be pursuing an electronics and data processing degree.

Dean is the son of Art and Janet Dean of Granite City.

The Stars open their season against Lewis and Clark on Sept. 8.

Belleville nine turned back; Spanky's gets ninth

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Coach Eldon Warfield of the 7-Up/Spunky's baseball team had two big worries before his team met the Belleville Light Buds in a nine-inning baseball battle Tuesday night at Granite City South's varsity field.

No. 1 worry was: would his starting pitcher, lanky and slender Glen Skillingstad, golden-haired Varsity southpaw from St. Cloud, Minn., be ready for action after a two-week layoff from college ball at Mankato state.

No. 2: could his charges handle the high-flying golden-haired Varsity southpaw from St. Cloud, Minn., be ready for action after a two-week layoff from college ball at Mankato state.

The 7-Up/Spunky's nine soundly defeated Belleville, 9-2, to run their record to 9-2, their best start ... ever since they started (as the Civics) six years ago.

And Skillingstad looked positively brilliant, for six innings before tiring in the seventh to be lifted by Warfield's ready becoming reliever, southpaw Bill Morton of Peoria.

In those six frames he worked against Belleville, Skillingstad gave up a total of four hits and no runs, but didn't let a single batter reach the seventh, the slender southpaw was greeted with a solid single by the Buds' third hitter, shortstop Steve Hausmann. Suddenly, it appeared that his control had disappeared and he walked the next batter. Steadying himself he then retired the next two would-be hitters.

On the second out, the first run (Hausmann scored) came then Belleville's portly catcher, John Docier, belted a one-one pitch to leftfield to score the second tally for the losers.

At this point, Bill Morton arrived at the pass to slam the door in the face of the Buds.

Meanwhile, the 7-Up/Spunky's batters were having themselves a picnic. Tim Gamble, playing at second instead of his usual outfield berth, was two-for-four and posted two RBI's; Granite City's Tom Greco, while sweating out whether or not he was going to be drafted by a major league club, was two-for-five including a solo fourbagger in the sixth; Jack Scarborough, who is off to another great season, collected two singles; Bill Stolte, hitting safely in his 11th straight game, was two-for-five with two RBI's; Darrell Wehrnd was two-for-five and so was John Vitale.

Thursday, the 7-Up/Spanky's return to Edwardsville' Hoppe Park for a single game against the tough St. Louis County Browns at 7:45 p.m., and then Friday, they'll return here to South for a single night game with Conway County of Arkansas at 7:45 p.m.

Saturday night, they'll return to Hoppe for a single game against the Cape Girardeau Capahaws. The next day (Sunday), it'll be a doubleheader with the Capahaws, this time starting at 1 p.m. at Cougar Field on the Southern Illinois U. at Edwardsville campus.

Triplets split; down Cahokia, Waterloo wins

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Larry Corey, the manager of the Tri-City American Legion baseball team, had been suffering his defensive alignment to find the right combination. Corey is still looking for the magic combination.

Despite not being able to find the right combination, the Triplets managed to split their first District 22 game of the season. The Triplets, despite making four errors and getting only six hits, edged Cahokia 10-6.

Tri-City also made four errors and had only six hits against Waterloo but lost to Waterloo 7-1 Tuesday.

"I think we're capable of playing a lot better than we have been," Corey said. "I think we're going to be a good team, but we still have to make a few changes in the defense and put people in some different spots."

Although the Triplets had lackluster performances in both games, the difference in the outcomes was timely hitting. Tri-City had timely hitting against Cahokia and didn't have it against Waterloo.

On Monday, the Triplets jumped out to a 7-1 after two innings, but Cahokia took advantage of an unusually wild Danny Whitsell. Walks helped Cahokia take an 8-7 lead in the third inning.

The Triplets tied the game in the bottom of the inning, and Cahokia took a brief lead in the fourth. However, the Triplets' most timely hits came in the bottom of that inning.

Vince Mitchell walked to open the fourth for the Triplets, and Scott Corey moved him over with a sacrifice. Kevin Patterson hit a triple to drive in Mitchell for the tying run. Mitt Rice then executed a perfect squeeze play to bring in Patterson for the winning run.

Jim Burton, who joined the team shortly before the game, took over for Whitsell in the third and was the winning pitcher for Tri-City. Burton threw 4-13 innings, gave up one earned run and three hits, and struck out four batters.

Tri-City also had some clutch hitting. Rick Dalrymple was 2-for-4 with two doubles and three RBI. Corey and Patterson were both 2-for-4. Mitchell had two RBI on a sacrifice flies.

"We had a big lead and we almost let the game get away from us," Corey said. "We have to play better than that if we're going to win."

Tri-City played the same way Tuesday and had almost no success at all. The only run came in the first inning when Daren DePew hit a double and scored on John Linhart's single. At that point, the game was tied at 1-1 at that point.

Part of the problem Tri-City had was players being in positions different from what they played in high school. For instance, Kevin Patterson, a second baseman for Granite City North this spring, was in the outfield. Vince Mitchell, an outfielder-catcher for Tri-City this spring, was playing at third base.

Those players being out of their normal positions made a difference in the second inning. Larry Person hit a single to open the inning. Clark Mathews reached on Mitchell's error. Patterson then dropped a fly ball hit by Jeff Ritzell to bring one runner in, and he made a bad throw to the infield to bring in the other runner.

Kevin Wheat had a RBI single, and Jeff Harres drove Wheat home with another single to give Waterloo a 5-1 lead.

Waterloo added two more runs in the third for insurance and coasted to victory. Waterloo is 4-0 so far this season.

Tri-City's other problem was failing to put hits together in clutch situations. In the fourth and sixth innings, the Triplets led off the inning with a hit, but they could get any more hits to bring those runners home. In the seventh inning, the Triplets had two hits and failed to get a rally going.

"We just didn't play that well," Corey said. "We didn't have the fielding when we needed to make the play, and we just quit hitting when they took the lead."

Tri-City, 2-2 for the season and 1-1 in District 22 action, will try to get going this weekend. On Thursday, the Triplets entertain East St. Louis at 6 p.m. at Granite City North. Tri-City travels to East Alton Saturday for a 3:30 p.m. game and to Marissa Sunday for an 8 p.m. game.

COME ON! Tri-City American Legion catcher Daren DePew wants the throw to home plate to come a little bit faster as Waterloo's Larry Person slides home in Tuesday's District 22 game at Granite City North. Waterloo won the game 7-1.

Computers spark upsurge in math

A growing popularity of computer science may partially account for an increase in the proportion of high school students enrolled in mathematics courses, according to a new Census of Secondary School Course Offerings and Enrollments.

Conducted by the Illinois State Board of Education, the census revealed that the percentage of students enrolled in mathematics courses in Illinois public high schools was more than four percent greater in 1982 than in the first census in 1977. The first was taken during the peak enrollment (728,000) in the state's high schools.

"The increased offering of computer-related topics, coupled with prerequisite courses for enrollment in computer courses, may account for a significant portion of the increase in mathematics enrollment," Education Donald Gill says.

Participating in the census were 719 (98 percent) of the public high schools. Spring 1982 statistical calculations in the survey take into consideration an enrollment decline of 113,000 high school students since the 1977 census.

Reflected in the higher enrollment in mathematics courses is a seven percent rise in the number of female students taking math. The male enrollment increased by two percent.

The number of schools offering computer science-mathematics as part of a mathematics program increased from 21 percent (1977) to 43 percent (1982). Male and female students enrolled in the courses rose 133 percent and 114 percent, respectively.

Also, enrollment in second-year and advanced mathematics courses increased, while those in remedial or general mathematics decreased.

Student enrollment in high school science courses did not fare as well as the total enrollment for mathematics. Students in science courses decreased by more than two percent. Enrollment of female students showed no decline but male students in science courses dropped four percent.

However, enrollment in some specific science courses is up over 1977. Students increased in biology first year by 11 percent, chemistry first year by 21 percent, and biology second year and advance biology by 14 percent.

Other subject areas showing bigger enrollments were foreign languages by nine percent, industrial arts and business-related courses by 13 percent.

Art, music, and social studies showed declines of 13 percent, nine percent and six percent, respectively. Courses in agriculture suffered a nine percent loss, and home economics had a 10 percent decline in student enrollment.

Urban Leagues back tax boost

The eight Urban League affiliates in Illinois have gone on record as supporting a tax increase to provide services for Illinois residents.

"I commend the Urban Leagues for their support. They recognize that the state has a duty to provide for those who cannot provide for themselves," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

The governor met with the Council of Chief Executive Officers for Urban League Affiliates in Illinois. The council represents the Madison County Urban League, Aurora Area Urban League, Urban League of Champaign County, Chicago Urban League, Tri-County Urban League (Peoria area), Springfield Urban League, Lake County Urban League and the East St. Louis branch.

In addition to its support for a tax rise, the group pledged to work with the governor and his administration for the "continued progress and well-being of minority citizens in Illinois."

Women and Social Security

By OLIVER HOLMES
District Manager
Social Security

Every American is affected either directly or indirectly by Social Security, but certain elements of the program are particularly relevant to women.

While we occasionally read about a man remaining at home to care for his children while his wife is employed outside the home, these are not the usual roles; it is almost always the woman who interrupts her career to raise the children.

These women should realize that the work credits they have already earned remain on their work record and are added to any additional credits they earn after returning to work.

Some women, like men, work throughout their adult lives. These women are earning credits toward their retirement benefits.

In addition, working women, who are married and have children are also earning protection for their families, including disability and survivors insurance.

For example, a woman who becomes disabled and is unable to work for at least 12 months may be eligible for disability benefits if she has worked long enough and recently enough under Social Security. Those who receive disability payments for 24 months also become entitled to Medicare protection.

The disabled woman's unmarried children may also be entitled to benefits. Monthly checks are payable to children under 18, children who became disabled before 22 and remain disabled, and children under 19 who are attending elementary or high-school full time.

The disabled woman's husband may also qualify for payments if he is at least 62. Even if he is under 62, he may qualify if he is caring for a child under 16 or disabled and entitled to benefits.

If the woman dies, her widower and children may receive monthly survivors checks.

Additional information about the particular relevance of Social Security to women may be obtained from the East St. Louis Social Security office, 274-4100. If this is a toll call, you may dial the operator and ask for Enterprise 1-555.

DONATION. A check in the amount of $700 is presented by Caroline Champion and Donna Woodward, on behalf of the Madison Junior Service Club, to Susan Thompson and Jim Holland, co-chairmen of the American Cancer Society. The club sponsored a Las Vegas Night to earn $1,400 which was divided between the Cancer Society and the March of Dimes.

How to save money on your grocery bills

Here are some important shopping tips

- 1—Check specials in food store advertisements.
- 2—Get to know the butcher and produce manager.
- 3—Find out when deliveries of perishables are made and shop on those days. Fresher foods last longer and consequently, you'll waste less.
- 4—Learn to estimate accurately the amounts of food needed. Keep a record of the amount of food you throw away in a week. It may alert you to ways you can reduce waste.
- 5—For economy and variety, use eggs, dry beans, and peanut butter in place of meat some of the time. These foods provide protein and most other nutrients that meat supplies.
- 6—Use nonfat dry milk, which is less expensive than fluid milk, at least part of the time in cooking and as a beverage.
- 7—By law, economy sizes of non-food items must save you at least 5% over other sizes of the same brand.
- 8—Try to shop as seldom as possible, preferably once a week.
- 9—Always shop with a well thought out shopping list. Try to base your list of foods on your menu for the week.
- 10—Take advantage of the special coupon offers going on at First Granite City Savings in conjunction with your local Schnuck's grocer.

Organ Pedalers tour Wick's Organ Factory

A group of AOA Organ Pedalers Organ Club members toured the Wick's Organ Co. in Highland, Ill., recently. The group met at the home of the grand pedalers, Fern House, at 10 a.m., motored to Highland and had lunch before touring the factory.

"It was a very interesting tour, showing how the huge pipe organs are assembled. There were a couple of the finished products in a room, which Betty Applegate played to show everyone how they sounded and how they worked. Another room was lined with pipes of all sizes, encased in glass. The club plans to take another tour, when more members will be able to attend," a spokesman said.

The regular meeting was held at the home of Helen Testerman. Several members played her Hammond T-500 and the hostess played a couple of selections while John Sabo sang. Refreshments were served by the hostess to Liz Novacek, Wilma Cooper, Dorothy Alsop, Henry Coleman, Diane Mason, Doris Schmitt, Burel Schmeiser, Harvey and Fern House.

Irene Dawes, Zelma Finch, Alpha Bauer, John Sabo, Betty Applegate and Carolyn Belling. It was decided to have a picnic at Fern House's home on July 16 at 4 p.m. Members are to bring fried chicken, side dishes and drinks for their own family. Those planning to attend will sign up at the June meeting for the dishes they prefer to bring. The June meeting will be June 20 at National School of Music, 2100 Cleveland Blvd. at 7 p.m. Well-known area artist, Bob Tyler, will perform at the meeting. He currently is performing at Walton's in Belleville every week.

Lay cornerstone at New Salem

By VALERIE EVENDEN of the Press-Record

An impressive cornerstone laying and dedication ceremony was conducted this week at New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St., Venice.

The Rev. John Henry Williams, pastor, served as master of ceremonies. Services were held both inside and on the grounds of the church, which was founded in 1917. New Salem is one of the older churches in the Quad-City area.

Many dignitaries were present and several visiting ministers offered congratulatory remarks to the congregation.

The principal address was given by the Rev. Seamus Boyce, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church, St. Louis, and minister at New Salem Church from 1963 until 1971. He was introduced by the Rev. Melvin Miller.

Greetings and welcoming expressions were extended by Nannie Kerr, church mother, and Sister Nicole Williams. Choral selections by a mass choir also highlighted the services.

A scripture reading was given by the Rev. Algie Crawford. Special recognition was afforded Willie Walker, executive director of the Madison County Urban League.

The cornerstone laying ceremony was hosted by Unity Lodge #4 of the Prince Hall Masonic Order of Free, Ancient and Accepted York Rite Masons, under the direction of Grand Deputy Albert Chambers of East St. Louis.

Chambers, who supervised the actual placing of the cornerstone and addressed those gathered outside the church. Its adjoining multi-purpose building. The latter facility was completed this year and dedicated March 12.

Participating in the ceremony were Masonic officials from National Compact Lodge 41, New Hope and Unity lodges.

New Salem Missionary Baptist Church was founded by James Green in 1917 and named by his daughter, Millie Green White.

Assisting in organizing the original church were Josie Green, Willie Fisher, Hilda Fields and Agnes Rhodes.

Between 1920 and 1929 the church was served by several ministers, including Rev. Thomas Treadway, Rev. J. M. Gladney, Rev. S. D. Harris, Rev. Alfred Rice and Rev. Butler.

In 1929, the Rev. J. N. Taylor was elected pastor and under his leadership the membership increased and a building fund drive was started. The result was a new church erected on Bremen Avenue on Kerr Island in Venice.

Between 1935 and 1943, the Rev. Elizabeth Snow and Rev. W. A. Brown pastored the church until the Rev. C. D. Buchanan accepted leadership of the congregation in 1943 and the membership rolls increased substantially.

A fire destroyed the church in 1952 and during the process of rebuilding, the congregation worshipped at Vernon Chapel A.M.E. Church.

Rev. Buchanan was called to pastor St. James Baptist Church in Alton in 1963 and Rev. Boyce, a member of New Salem Baptist, was elected to lead his own church the same year.

Rev. Boyce had a great desire to see a new modern church edifice erected and established a new building fund, contributing the first money himself, and the current airconditioned church was constructed.

An associate pastor, the Rev. Eddie Gatlin led the church prior to Rev. Henry L. Allen who accepted the ministerial post in 1972. Through his guidance and direction, the congregation paid off a 15-year church mortgage in four years by utilizing special fund pledges, family fund-raisers, banquets, teas, fellowship days and drives by both men and women's groups.

The final mortgage payment was made Feb. 20, 1978.

Rev. Allen became ill in September 1980 and Rev. Williams, then 40 associate minister, served on an interim basis until Rev. Allen's death in August 1981.

Rev. Williams was named fulltime minister in January 1982 and was installed in March that year. Since his tenure began, he has been credited with establishing instruction in the titling process and in reactivating the Bible Training Unit.

New Salem Missionary Baptist has a current membership of 350.

The circus is for kids

When the Ainad Shrine Circus came to Granite City, there was no doubt that the children would like the circus the most, regardless of whether they were participating or just watching.

Thousands of people lined Madison Avenue for the parade, and thousands watched the circus from the stands at the speedway. The circus concludes at 7:30 tonight at Tri-City Speedway.

Starting from top left and going clockwise, the photographs show how much the children enjoyed the circus.

Dustin Schuessler, 3, awaits the beginning of the parade from his spot on Madison Avenue.

Although the Gayle's Reflection baton team had difficulties staying in line while marching, the crowds along the streets enjoyed them anyway.

Cooperation to sharpen driving skills of elderly and to lower insurance bills

Lieutenant Governor George Ryan has joined with the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and the Illinois Association of Homes for the Aging (IAHA) to expand the availability of AARP's 55 Alive-Maturing Driving Program.

By sharpening their driving skills, the program helps senior citizens obtain the discount on their auto insurance rates which became available to drivers over the age of 55 last year.

Plans for obtaining additional class locations, instructors and assistant state program coordinators highlighted a meeting organized by Ryan last month in Springfield. Cathy S. Michaelson, IAHA's assistant director; Ray Patten, Illinois coordinator for the driving program, and staff from Ryan's Senior action Center participated.

According to Ryan, IAHA will soon be working with its membership to help AARP meet the volunteer and space needs. Coles, Effingham, McDonough, Macon, Madison and Sangamon Counties are among the areas considered top priorities by AARP.

"The 55 Alive-Maturing Driving Program is the first comprehensive driver retraining course geared to the specific needs of older motorists," Ryan said.

"Almost 85 percent of the persons taking it have never been involved in any formal driving course, even though they may have been driving for many years."

"All senior citizens should have the opportunity to take this excellent, low-cost instruction," he said. "I'll continue my efforts to help realize that goal."

The AARP course covers the effects of aging and medications on driving abilities, basic driving rules, license renewal, local traffic hazards, adverse road conditions, energy saving and accident prevention measures.

Persons age 55 and older are eligible to participate. Persons who want to volunteer space for the driving classes or teach it may contact either Ray Patten, 55 Alive-Maturing Driving Program, Post Office Box 542, Oak Lawn, Ill. 60454 (1-312-422-9069), or Lieutenant Governor George Ryan's Senior Action Centers toll free, 1-800-252-6565.

Information about the senior insurance discount also is available from the Action Centers. The centers are open weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Psalm 123:1 . . . "Bless the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me, bless his holy name."

The Christian community as a whole must learn the power of praise. Our churches must teach it, our leaders must practice it, and it must rise to a place of preeminence in our daily devotions.

We have no problem in praising God when everything in our lives is going well. But all too often when things go against us, our praise turns to questions, and then to murmuring, and then to complaining. The Bible teaches us to give thanks in all things.

Let us remember that we are shining as lights to the world. We are the body of Christ and as such must possess submissive will in our Heavenly Father. When we focus our minds on God's Word, we know that all things work together for our good.

Believers all over the world are looking for the coming of God's Kingdom. They believe there is a Heaven with streets of gold and gates of pearl. They believe in a place where there will be no darkness, no sickness, nor pain, nor death, nor tears. They believe this is the reward of the righteous. But every one of them I have ever talked to has said, "What I want most of all when I get to Heaven is to hear Jesus say, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'"

We give Christ our lives for something as simple as His spoken blessing for our efforts. Could we not bless them with all that is within us for giving His life for us.

Special ed office won't move yet

Noting that the Quad-City special education (Madison County Region 1) office has been in the same building since 1964, the Granite City Board of Education decided Tuesday night against any immediate move.

Supt. B. J. Davis noted that "we will have additional space in this office" (the District Nine administrative office building at 20th and Adams streets) this year. The number of administrators and secretaries is being reduced June 30 as part of a major spending reduction plan.

Potential total yearly savings from moving the Region 1 office was estimated at under $4,000, including custodial, telephone and utility costs.

Seven-year use of part of the Township Building was granted in exchange for the school district providing the site for the structure, which includes town offices and a senior citizen recreation hall.

Central Junior High School formerly was situated at the 21st Street and Delmar Avenue location. That school's limited size and the inadequate campus prompted a decision to raze the school.

Supt. Davis said, "There are two locations in the District Nine office where we could place them. One would be in the main building of the central office—three office areas along the 20th Street side of the building."

"The other possible location would be in the adjacent audio-visual, athletic, physical education office complex."

"If we do not make the move this year, certainly we will have to consider it next year."

With the numerous changes going on within District Nine this summer, board members said they feel any change in the status of the special education office should be postponed, possibly until the summer of 1984.

Supt. Davis said after the meeting that the reduction from 18 schools in 1982-83 to 12 schools in 1983-84 is in progress, but that much remains to be done.

Tasks include moving desks and chairs out of the building to another. Extra trucks, drivers and laborers are being utilized, he said.

Several board members suggested that, before the special education office site is discussed further, a possible floor plan for the relocation could be developed.

Special Education Director Steve Balen said the region's office needs more space for himself and Stuart Mills, three psychologists, three secretaries, about 25 large filing cabinets, a copying machine and miscellaneous office equipment.

Granite City District Nine is the administrative district for the special education region, which also includes the Madison and Venice school districts.

A board discussion brought out that more privacy would be afforded in the audio-visual building, a few feet to the west, than in the main office building at 20th and Adams streets.

As part of the region's work, discussions are held by staff members with each other and with parents in evaluating handicapped students' progress.

CHARGE HARASSMENT
A Venice woman was arrested by Madison police last week on three warrants alleging telephone harassment. Eleanor Fay Young, 35, of 613 Mendota Ave., was released on $300 bond.

Crackdown on truancy

City efforts to help reduce truancy were endorsed Tuesday night by the Granite City Board of Education.

A report by Vasil Etimoff, retiring pupil personnel services administrator, related that Fred "Pat" Schuman, an assistant high school principal and Second Ward alderman, is sponsoring a municipal ordinance to aid in alleviating the problem of child truants.

Etimoff told of conferring with C.A. MacMillan, whose Co-ordinated Youth Services agency serves as the truant officers of the school district. Etimoff added, "We both feel that the truancy dilemma needs all the help that can be provided. The city program would not cost the district additional monies and would probably generate some."

Supt. B.J. Davis said, "The ordinance by the City Council would only apply to students who live within the city limits of Granite City. However, it could help in our continuing struggles to improve student attendance. I recommend that the board support the city in this ordinance."

A rough draft of the proposal showed it would not reduce schools' authority to enforce compulsory attendance but would be in addition to the existing Illinois School Code regulations.

Those in custody or control of children from the ages of seven to 16 years would be required to send them to school during the regular term.

Exceptions would be pupils attending private or parochial schools; youngsters physically or mentally unable to attend, as certified by a physician; those excused for a temporary absence for cause; and 12- and 13-year-olds attending confirmation classes.

Pregnancy and motherhood would not exempt women from attending school unless there were complications verified by a physician.

'Team physician' award to Wilkins

Dr. George T. Wilkins is a "Team Physician Award" winner, named by the Illinois State Medical Society. Joe Fedora, director of athletics and physical education, told the Granite City School Board, Tuesday night, "This is the first year that this award has been presented."

"The purpose of the award program is twofold: to recognize physicians who are continuing to improve their time and skills to young athletes, and to encourage other physicians to assist local athletic teams and recognize the athletic injury concerns of school districts."

Dr. Wilkins was nominated for the award by himself and the Granite City North and South athletic directors. He was selected for the award on his merits and contributions, as printed in the Illinois High School Association's "Inter-scholastic Magazine, May 1983."

The magazine related, "Dr. George Wilkins serves as team physician for both high schools in the Granite City system, and has been team physician for the system for more than 20 years."

"Through his efforts and financial support, the system maintains a student athletic trainer scholarship program."

"He administers all senior high school athletic physical

Parents would be required to send to school children below seven or above 16 if enrolled in any of the 12 grades.

City Attorney John Papa proposed to define a truant, as a child subject to compulsory school attendance and who is absent without valid cause for a school day or portion of a school day.

Valid causes would be illness, death in the immediate family, a family emergency or other situations beyond the control of the student, as determined by the Board of Education.

Among acceptable circumstances for absence would be situations causing "reasonable concern to the parent for the safety or health of the student."

A chronic or habitual truant would be defined as a child absent without valid cause for 10 out of 40 consecutive school days.

Truant officers would investigate truancy or non-attendance. If a person failed to send a child under his or her custody or control, notices would be given in person or by mail, listing the date that attendance must begin and stating that it must be continuous and consecutive during the remainder of the school year.

The teacher or superintendent would be told of the notice, and the school system then would inform the truant officer of any non-compliance.

If the notice was ignored and the adult knowingly permitted truancy to continue, the officer would submit a complaint to the Madison County Circuit Court.

The ordinance also would ban inducing or attempting to induce a child to be absent unlawfully, and it would prohibit employing or harboring a child while school is in session, except for authorized part-time cooperative work programs.

Persons and firms violating the ordinance could be fined $25 to $500 for each day of the offense.

NEW COMPUTERS. Eight personal computers, earmarked for the construction program of the School of Science and Engineering at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, are formally dedicated in ceremonies last week. Ralph Korte of Korte Construction Co. tries his hand at the new equipment with SIUE President Earl Lazerson standing behind him. Also participating were, from the left, Robert Baccava and Luke Snell of the university's engineering and construction facility; Monte Doctor, president of the Southern Illinois Builders' Association and chairman of the Construction Advancement Council; Steve Hanna, chairman of the department of engineering; Scott Boeker, senior construction major from Hammel, Lazerston, and Tom Anderson, dean of the School of Science and Engineering. Support for the acquisition of the computational laboratory to be used by students in construction and industrial engineering came from the Construction Advancement Foundation, Korte Construction Co. and Bannes-Shaughnessy, Inc., a construction company in St. Louis. GRANITE CITY VISIT JUNE 10. A Disabled American Veterans field service unit will be at the DAV Hall, 1417 Nineteenth St., from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow to provide veterans and their families with free counseling and claims filing assistance. One of the mobile offices visiting towns across the nation is pictured. In the past six years, 23 new laws have made 445 changes in veterans' benefits and programs.

A new concept, Weekend University, is planned

Weekend University, a new program of regular academic courses scheduled on Saturdays and Sundays, will be introduced this fall at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Vice President and Provost Barbara Teters said approximately 65 courses will be available on weekends at the Edwardsville campus, in addition to three courses at the East St. Louis Center and six courses at the Scott Air Force Base resident center.

She said the courses, selected from the schools of business, education, fine arts and communications, humanities, sciences and social sciences and from University College, are especially designed for adults who are interested in career development or change, or the opportunity to learn more about topics of special interest. The format is expected to be especially attractive to students who are unable or prefer not to attend classes during weekdays or evenings.

Arrested after THREE-CAR MISHAP

Mark Angelo O'Hara, 23, of St. Louis, was arrested and charged with illegal transportation of alcohol this week, following an accident in the 1500 block of Market Street, Madison.

At that location, a vehicle operated by O'Hara allegedly struck two parked autos, belonging to Christine Marvay, 1519 Market St., and Debra A. Reed, 4048 Gaslight Walk, Pontoon Beach.

An officer alleged an open bottle of wine was in the driver's area. O'Hara was released after posting a $50 cash bond.

introductions to university education as well as meeting the academic needs of the weekend participants, Dr. Teters said.

The university's chief academic officer stressed that the courses offered will carry regular university credit and will be the same as classes offered during the week. Participants will be admitted as regular SIUE students. Missouri residents will be able to take up to nine hours of credit at in-state tuition rates just as they may with other academic programs.

Dr. Teters said she believes the attractiveness, location and physical facilities of the campus make it especially feasible to offer weekend courses.

Describing the campus as "a pleasant place to be," she said it is easily accessible from three interstate and other area highways, and parking and buildings can accommodate a large student population, if there is major interest in the weekend format. Weekend University schedules may be obtained by calling 1-800-3210 or toll-free 1-800-642-7860, in Illinois.

Arrests follow family dispute

Officers were called to a disturbance at the home of Leon T. LeMaster, 43, of 2950 Benton St., this week and alleged LeMaster and his son, Randall L. LeMaster, 20, of the same address, were charged with disorderly conduct by an officer.

Randall LeMaster also was charged with disorderly conduct by an officer and was released after posting a $52 cash bond.

4-day sentence in county jail

Arrested in the 2200 block of Grand Avenue during the weekend following an alleged public nuisance incident at 24th Street and Grand Avenue, David A. LaRose, 30, of 4140 Division St., Lot 22, Pontoon Beach, was charged with disorderly conduct.

LaRose pleaded guilty and was fined $135 and sentenced to serve 40 days in the Madison County Jail. He was transferred to the Edwardsville facility Tuesday morning.

Innovative playground at Mitchell

Approving a recommendation by Leigh Heller, physical education coordinator, the Granite City School Board on Tuesday night approved playground improvements for Mitchell School.

The coordinator said, "Mrs. Vicki Walton, Mitchell PTA parent, contacted me several weeks ago concerning updating their school playground."

"I shared with her the recommendation from our district's Playground Committee. We discussed not only the safety aspects but also the inclusion of a variety of available play spaces for children. We scheduled another meeting, giving the parents an opportunity to prepare their material."

Last week, Art Menendez, Mitchell principal, and three Mitchell parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Kern and Mrs. Walton, and I met. They had prepared schematic drawings and a cost estimate for the proposed playground.

Their plans include a meshing of a traditional playground and a more innovative, creative playground.

"They have incorporated many of the Playground Committee's recommendations in their plans—few moving parts, none of the proposed stations over eight feet tall, bolts countersunk whenever possible, and a resilient base under all equipment. Also in their plans are treated landscape mulch and galvanized steel pipes."

"Money-raising projects have been initiated and present plans call for the playground to be completed in stages, as funding is available."

According to Mrs. Walton, the amount available at this time is $422. The first area designated for completion would be a long jump station. The parents also requested removal of the monkey bars, that are presently situated on the playground.

"Their proposal has many good ideas and will give the Mitchell students a quality playground, providing creative play spaces with places to play and opportunities for leadership."

Principal Menendez and Mrs. Jane Kenoe, physical education teacher, will serve as liaison capacity as the playground work proceeds."

RANSACK APARTMENT
A burglar kicked open two padlocked doors to the apartment of Ora Clifton, 1731 Delmar Ave., it was reported during the weekend. Three rooms had been ransacked and a list of missing items was being compiled. Both doors were damaged, a report said.

ASSESSED $50 FINE
Craig E. Lewis, 20, of 2008 Washington Ave., was fined $50 last week. He had been arrested in that block the previous day for disorderly conduct.
